Minus-52 in State

Cold Will Continue

Temperatures plunged to record-setting lows early today as the most severe weather of the winter moved into Wisconsin and the Fox Valley area.

Making the biting cold harder to take is the weather forecast which promises no respite. The forecast is for fair and continued very cold tonight in the Valley with a low near 15 below.

Readings of 20 below were common throughout the state Tuesday night with an unofficial low of 52 below at Phillips and an official low of 46 below in Neillsville.

The low temperature reported in the Fox Valley area was 30 below in Waupaca. Other readings were 22 below in Appleton, 21 below in Green Bay, 27 below in Neenah-Menasha, 28 below in New London, 24 below in Seymour and 22 below in Chilton.

At least three Wisconsin persons suffered fatal heart attacks Tuesday while working in snow and freezing temperatures.

One of the weather victims was a Valley area resident—Elmer G. Diedrich, 57, of route 2, Hibert. He died about 4 p.m., Tuesday, shortly after he finished shoveling snow at the home of his son, Donald Diedrich, of route 1, Hilbert. According to Calumet County Coronor Leroy Hughes, Diedrich had a past history of coronary illness.

Other Victims

Other heart attack victims were George Bergeren, 68, of rural Bloomer, who collapsed and died while shoveling snow on his farm, and Gerald Peterson, 25, rural Rio, who died after helping to push his car out of a snowbank in Columbia County.

Records at Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. in Appleton show that today was the coldest Jan. 18 on record. Today's 22 below compares with the previous record of 18 below which was set in 1930. The lowest January temperature in the power company's records was 30 below, on Jan. 30, 1951. The all-time low of minus 32 occurred on Feb. 20, 1929.

Late for Jobs

With the low temperatures came the usual rash of stalled automobiles and people late for their jobs because they needed other means of transportation. The American Automobile Association office in Appleton reported it was deluged with calls this morning from persons with dead batteries and stalled cars.

Appleton Director of Public Works Frank Keuler showed the city government "has a heart." Rather than sending garbage and rubbish pickup crews out into the bitter cold, Keuler pointed out that today "was an ideal day to do indoctrination and instruction work for our public works employes" at the new (heated) city garage.

For people who care about such things, the Wisconsin branch of the U.S. Weather Bureau came out today with its "Wisconsin Snow and Frost Depth Report."

Marathon, Langlade, Lincoln, Clark and Wood counties, the weather bureau says, have the deepest frost penetration in the state. The depth in this region ranges from 33 inches in Antigo to 40 inches at Spencer.

10-Inch Average

The Fox Valley region, which has a snow cover averaging about 10 inches, has a frost penetration ranging from seven to 12 inches.

Wisconsin roads in the northern half of the state still had scattered slippery spots today in sheltered areas. Roads in the southern half of the state generally were clear and dry.

Despite the temperatures, The Post - Crescent received no reports of closed schools and only scattered incidents when school buses were late making their rounds.

Astronaut Lovell Visits Wisconsin

Says Flights Go Well With State's Motto

MADISON (AP) — Astronaut James Lovell, braving the coldest day of the winter for a warm homecoming to Wisconsin, suggested today that the state's motto, "Forward," be affixed to America's thrust into space.

Lovell, greeted by a standing ovation from the 1967 Legislature, said the knowledge gained in space explorations offered "a vital resource of tremendous wealth."

The Gemini pilot said, "The space program is not just an investment in hardware, it is an investment in people. It is not an investment made on some distant planet, but an investment right here on Earth."

The speech before a joint session of the Senate and Assembly began a day-long agenda which also called for a Capitol news conference, a noon speech before a University of Wisconsin civic luncheon and talks with technical experts at a space sciences symposium on the campus.

The Milwaukee astronaut flew into Madison without fanfare Tuesday night as temperatures dipped toward 20 degrees below zero.

"Stepping out of that airplane last night was about as cold it was when we opened up that hatch," said Lovell, twice conqueror of the frozen waste of space where the cold reaches minus 250.

U.S. Pilots Pour Fire Bombs on Red Hideouts

Viet Cong Deaths In 'Iron Triangle' Sweep Hit 495

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — High-flying B52 bombers rained tons of fire bombs on Communist War Zone D today in an attempt to burn Viet Cong hideouts in triple canopy jungles 32 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman who observed the unusual incendiary bomb raid from a helicopter said "it looked just like the Fourth of July."

He said the huge eight-engine Stratoforts, flying out of sight at 30,000 feet, made 10 passes over a 30-square-mile area of the D Zone which the Viet Cong reportedly used for base camps and infiltration routes.

Toll Hits 495

A few miles to the west of the zone, U.S. forces reported killing 20 more Viet Cong in Operation Cedar Falls in the "Iron Triangle" 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon. U.S. troops also uncovered a grave with 19 enemy bodies, and a spokesman placed the Communist death toll at 495

Prank Goes With Pair on Honeymoon

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A newly married couple was stopped by a highway patrolman Tuesday, and the nervous driver ordered out with his hands in the air.

The Illinois motorist was quizzed about his marital status while his nearly hysterical bride kept shouting, "What's wrong?"

After determining the man was telling the truth, trooper Jerry Matheson explained that a station attendant had found a note on their car's gasoline tank reading: "I am being held hostage and forced to pose as a wife. Please call police."

The bride looked at the note and said it was the work of a prankster.

Officers did not get the couple's name.

Response to Traffic Toll

Public Support Needed if '21' Beer Law Is to Pass

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The demand in the comprehensive highway safety program submitted to the Legislature by Gov. Warren P. Knowles Tuesday that will attract most attention and controversy, while it probably has the most dubious prospects of enactment, is that which asks for a uniform minimum age of 21 years for the drinking of beer anywhere in the state.

The governor probably is making a correct assessment when he reports his belief that public opinion is responding slowly to the problem of the rising death toll on public highways.

That increasing public concern probably will bring him some additional support for the 21 age beer rule which was received coldly and rejected decisively on numerous past occasions.

The governor also aptly noted in his message that a "vast majority of the citizens of the state have clearly indicated preference for a minimum age limit established at 21 years." He referred to the fact that the Wisconsin community has endorsed such a principle at least obliquely by keeping in local government officials who have enacted 21 age beer control ordinances. Such local option legislation now governs an estimated 63 per cent of the residents of Wisconsin.

Opposition to such a proposal, however, is experienced, resourceful and determined.

Influential Trades

It combines the influential tavern and beer distribution trades, local officials who insist that compulsory state controls would be a violation of the "home rule" principle, and persons who believe restriction of beer sales smacks of prohibihibitionist sentiment—always unpopular in Wisconsin.

The latter view is reinforced by the record, which shows that the idea of a 21 age beer rule in earlier times was sponsored by "dry" elements, without particular regard to the problem of highway safety. This problem has become more prominent in the dispute in recent times due to nearly universal vehicle driving by youths.

Under Wisconsin law since the repeal of prohibition more than three decades ago, localities have primary rights in liquor and beer regulation. Local governments control licensing, and they have the right to issue licenses or to establish local prohibition through the denial of such permits. State law sets 21 as the minimum age for the consumption of hard liquor and 18 for the consumption of beer in public places.

The fact that some localities, and especially rural towns, have permitted beer bars which sell to patrons 18 years of age and over, has created youth-attracting "beer islands," as the governor described them, which has created a new problem on the highways. According to Knowles, about two-thirds of the state's drivers between 18 to 20 who were involved in fatal accidents during the last year were shown to have an amount of alcohol in their blood to indicate intoxication.

Sees Light Opposition In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Initial reaction to President Johnson's announcement that he will seek a $73 billion defense budget indicates Congress will vote any funds needed to finance the war in Vietnam.

But requests for military spending not related directly to the war could run into tough opposition.

Johnson told a news conference Tuesday night that his requests for defense spending in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 will total $73 billion — an increase of about $5 billion over the current level. He also disclosed he soon will ask Congress for a $9.4 billion supplemental defense appropriation for the current fiscal year.

At the peak of World War II, defense spending totaled about $88 billion a year. The Korean war peak topped $59 billion.

Sees Little Trouble

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., a member of the Armed Services Committee, said in an interview the proposed defense budget "might be scrutinized a little closer than usual but I don't think there will be any trouble getting support for the war."

Stennis singled out military construction projects as an example of spending that might get a closer look.

Another Democratic member of the Armed Services Committee, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, said congressional action on the over-all defense budget will "depend on the justification" the administration presents but added he expects war spending requests to be approved. He noted that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNa-

Visit to Australia

Hecklers Greet Premier Ky

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — With miniskirted demonstrators chanting "one-two-three, go home, Ky," South Vietnam's premier charmed his way into Australia's capital today and pacified a news conference of tough and at times hostile questioners.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and his wife arrived in Canberra for a nine-day visit to Australia and New Zealand during which members of the opposition Labor Party have pledged to stage demonstrations against the war and his visit.

Fielding every question at the news conference with smiling urbanity, Ky:

1. Insisted that his visit was not to bolster his regime but to thank the people of Australia for their sacrifices in behalf of his country.

Not in Algerian War

2. Denied that Adolf Hitler was his hero, that he had ever fought for the Vichy regime in France—"I was only 12 years old"— or that he had ever taken part in the Algerian war for France.

3. Reaffirmed his intention to visit the United States after the Constituent Assembly finishes writing a constitution for South Vietnam. He said the trip would probably be at the end of this year.

4. Said he has no objection to the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front participating in negotiations to end the Vietnamese war "so long as they are part of the Hanoi delegation."

Some 700 trade unionists and students turned out to protest Ky's visit with placards denouncing him as a fascist, a killer and "baby burner."

"Waterside workers say keep killer Ky out," read a typical placard waved by the demonstrators.

Police Stand Guard

Some of the demonstrators tried to bait the hundreds of extra police called on duty by waving Viet Cong flags in their faces, but the tough Aussie cops stood their ground. There were no incidents.

Accompanied by his beautiful wife, Tuyet Mai, the premier was whisked about the city at such speed that he was barely cognizant of any public opposition.

By Saigon standards, the demonstrations were mild and orderly. Many of the anti-Ky forces wore the international uniform of protest—beards, sandals, blue jeans and sweat shirts. Standing under the eucalyptus trees waving their banners of protest and chanting, they might have been transplanted en masse to the Berkeley campus in California without changing their lines or their garb.

Along with the demonstrators, a few thousand curious turned up along the motorcade route probably expecting to see the flamboyant premier in his customary black flight suit and lavender neck scarf. Instead they saw a smiling mustachioed young man in a conservative brown silk business suit and gold and black striped tie.

Two Men Killed In Accidents

Milwaukee Deaths Raise State's Toll For Year to 38

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of two men in separate Milwaukee accidents raised the Wisconsin traffic toll for the year to 38 today, compared with 40 on this date a year ago.

Kenneth Mundstock, 33, of New Berlin, was injured fatally early today when his sports car was involved in a rear end collision involving two other cars on the Milwaukee County Freeway near the Stadium Interchange.

John Daniel, 34, of suburban St. Francis was killed Tuesday night when the car in which he was riding left the street and struck a utility pole on Milwaukee's south side.

Meanwhile, a man previously listed as a traffic victim was removed from the list of highway dead. He was Wendell Moos of Onalaska, 72, the driver of one of two trucks which collided Monday near Onalaska. Dr. James Murphy, La Crosse County coroner, said Tuesday that Moos suffered a fatal heart attack before the trucks collided.

No 'Hot Suspect' After 5 Months

Search Continues for Slayer of Valerie Percy

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — The chief of police, a courteous, soft-spoken man, fingered his bow tie and considered the question. "We don't," he said, "have what we could call a real hot suspect."

That is the status of the search for the murderer of 21-year-old Valerie Percy, five months after the fact.

"There are more than 1,000 items of physical evidence in this case," said Police Chief Robert Daley in an interview. "There are some items we regard as clues. But there is nothing we think of as a real good lead."

Snow splotches the two acres of lawn around the $200,000 mansion where a killer bludgeoned and knifed to death Valerie Percy last Sept. 18.

There are no other surface changes at the home of Valerie's father, millionaire Charles H. Percy, now a U.S. senator, or in Kenilworth, a Chicago enclave for the very rich on the shore of Lake Michigan.

Occasionally, Chief Daley, commuting 55 miles each morning to his job, drives past the 17-room limestone mansion, set off from the main road by its private drive. Trees and hedges form a covering maze for the house, named Windward.

For Daley and for his 14-man force there is another kind of maze involving Windward— one formed by the massive file of information on the unsolved slaying of Valerie Percy.

Heads Investigation

On Sept. 17, Daley, a 34-year veteran of the force, seven years its chief, was planning retirement, approved by the Village Board for Nov. 1.

But in the murky dawn of the following Sunday morning, an intruder cut his way through a patio door of Windward, crept upstairs and killed the blue-eyed, 5-foot-6 Valerie, whose father then was the Republican candidate for the Senate.

Daley went ahead and bought a retirement home in Racine, Wis., his wife's hometown. But he promised the village he would continue to head the murder investigation that encompasses a file of more than 1,000 leads.

"We have questioned more than 2,500 persons," Daley said. "We have chased down leads in more than 25 states and several foreign countries.

"The FBI contacted people in Canada, Puerto Rico, France and England. We are checking them all. And another thing, one lead always leads to another.

"Our people — 14 men, plus myself — work regular hours. But if a lead turns up, we work on it past midnight."

Daley, 58, speaks softly, prefacing each statement with "sir." He has a batch of unruly pepper-gray hair and favors bow ties and tweed sports coats.

Fourteen persons have been given lie-detector tests: each has been absolved.

There are 1,020 leads in the file labeled "Percy investigation." Some 300 of them have been separated into an inactive file. The names of about 100 persons are kept in the active file of suspects.

1,000 Items

The more than 1,000 items of physical evidence include the slain girl's blood-stained nightgown, a man's glove found in a shallow ravine near the mansion, a bayonet salvaged from Lake Michigan by scuba divers and two well-defined palm prints from the circular stairway the killer climbed en route to his victim.

The palm prints are of use only in checking against those of a suspect. No connection has been disclosed between the bayonet and the murder weapon. Chemical tests failed to establish whether woolen fibers found on the victim's bed matched those of the glove.

More than 300 fingerprints taken from friends of the Percy family have been checked out by the FBI. At the time of the slaying, Daley said it appeared the killer was familiar with the Percy mansion. The family was questioned extensively by Daley and a list of their friends was compiled.

At an October inquest, Mrs. Percy told a coroner's jury of Valerie's slaying: "I'm convinced it was nothing she provoked."

The victim's father declared: "She was the embodiment of freshness and sweetness. I really can't imagine her having an enemy.

In November Percy was elected to the Senate by Illinois voters.

A month later, Valerie's twin, Sharon, became engaged to John D. Rockefeller IV.

But for Chief Daley, the five months since the slaying have provided no highlights, few diversions. His retirement is still in the future.

Appleton's Public Works department gave a performance test Tuesday afternoon to a device called a "Snow Melter." A city snowblower (right) picked the snow up from E. Wisconsin Avenue and dropped it into the Snow Melter, left, which, in turn, sent melted water into gutters and down storm sewers. All of the water (lower photo) didn't go down storm sewers, however, because the below zero temperatures had it frozen before it got that far. The result was a coat of solid ice on the street. A sander, filled with sand and salt, was used to cover the ice. (Post-Crescent Photos)

HUD Blocks $1.5 Million Water Expansion Grant

Appleton Application Passed Three Departments Now Must Undergo Legal Review

Appleton officials were disheartened today with disclosure that the city's application for a $1.5 million federal grant to help finance a multi-million dollar water expansion is in limbo.

Rep. John Byrnes (R-Green Bay) had a staff member contact Mayor George Buckley Tuesday afternoon to inform him the application is blocked at the Chicago regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

City officials had been under the assumption the application, which they hand-delivered almost a year ago, had passed regional requirements and was in Washington awaiting final approval.

But this apparently was not the case.

Program Cut

Compounding the city's problem is that the federal government has cut its grant program drastically on President Johnson's recommendations, and there are thousands of communities across the country waiting in line for federal public works appropriations.

The Post-Crescent contacted the office of U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wisconsin) this morning and learned he wired HUD officials at Chicago Tuesday for a complete status report on Appleton's application.

Sen. Nelson wired city officials Oct. 28 that the $1.5 million grant request was under technical review and if processing proceeded the city could expect some word by the end of the year.

Situation Changed

However, the domestic situation has changed considerably since then.

William Bechtl, the senator's administrative assistant, said Nelson requested complete information on the Appleton situation from the regional HUD director "as soon as possible."

"Sen. Nelson gave assurance he would do everything possible to get the application moving," Bechtl said.

Rep. Byrnes was in contact with HUD officials Monday, according to James Sutherland, his administrative assistant, who called Buckley from Washington Tuesday afternoon.

Under Review

Sutherland said the Appleton application passed three departments and was now under legal review in the HUD office at Chicago.

It was indicated the future of the Appleton application now lies in the hands of Leo Morris, regional HUD director, and the next step in the approval procedure will be to make a fund reservation request to the HUD office in Washington, D.C.

However, the stickler is that fund reservations are reviewed on a quarterly basis which means the Appleton project will not come up for another look until about April 1.

"Rep. Byrnes has said he will give us any help that he can to get approval," Mayor Buckley said.

Brief Considered

Buckley said Sutherland was hopeful the Appleton request would be one of the first up for review come April 1. It was suggested, also, the city may wish to consider forwarding a brief to further support its request.

The mayor said he would discuss this with City Atty. David Geenen.

Buckley received the call from Washington during a meeting of the board of public works. The city council will probably be appraised of the situation by the mayor tonight.

Buckley said he would be happy to make a trip to Chicago and discuss the city's application with Morris "if it will do any good."

Works Unit Okays Avenue Contracts

Contracts for general construction and equipment purchases for the $800,000 College Avenue reconstruction project were approved Tuesday by the board of public works.

They are scheduled to be awarded by the Appleton Council tonight following a public hearing on the special assessments to be levied avenue property owners.

The hearing will be in conjunction with the regular council meeting at the city hall, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Target Date

Completion target for the avenue project is Sept. 1, with underground work to begin sometime next month.

Vinton Construction Co., Manitowoc, was low bidder and will be in charge of the entire project, including supervision of various subcontractors.

In another development, a "package contract," the board also recommended purchase of street light equipment, including standards, lamps and fixtures for the downtown lighting system.

In another development, a representative of the firm which installed the new microphone and public address system in the council chambers said changes would be made in the equipment to make it more suitable.

Previously, the council expressed dissatisfaction with the "gooseneck" type microphone layout.

Legislators to Hear Detailed Memo on UW-GB Site Switch

Appeal for Larson Farm Site Is Coupled With Special Fiscal Pitch

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A storng appeal to all legislators — coupled with a special fiscal pitch to conservatives — has been made in a detailed memo prepared by backers of the proposed bill to change the site of The University of Wisconsin-Green Bay (UW-GB.

The six-page, single-spaced paper, demonstrates the care which has been taken by leaders of the fight to win approval of the Larson farm site in arming for the battle expected to start this week with the introduction of the bill prepared by Assemblyman William Rogers (D-Kaukauna).

The paper has been readied for distribution to all members of the Legislature when the site fight begins. The memorandum is signed by A. W. Ponath, as corporation counsel for Outagamie County and by "Students First, A Citizen's Committee," and carefully lists monetary appeals and the testimony of Brown County leaders in an attempt to win approval for a site change.

Need Highways

The fiscal appeal is coupled to a claim that retaining the Shorewood site as the campus of the UW-GB would cost the state "millions of dollars of expenditures to build new highways and bridges." It is also coupled to two citations from the presentations of the Northeastern Wisconsin Education Committee and Brown County, a year and a half ago, relating to the then current characteristics of the Larson farm site.

The Brown County testimony came during the site selection process carried out in the fall and winter of 1965 and includes quotations made in listing the Larson farm location among several other county sites.

"The Larson farm site is close to four-lane U.S. Highway 41 and closest to the center of student population. It is near the Green Bay football stadium and the Green Bay airport. It requires no expensive bridges to make it accessible," the paper recounts in suggesting transportation difficulties in keeping the Shorewood site.

Cites Cost

Quotations from G. H. Bakke, chairman of the State Highway Commission, and V. L. Fiedler, its secretary, are then cited as evidence that statewide popular demands far outstrip state financial capabilities. Fiedler is further quoted as saying that if all such demands are to be met throughout the state, the cost would be over $500 million during a 10-year period.

Heavy bridge traffic congestion is suggested by citing highway commission traffic totals for bridges in Green Bay and De Pere in August and September 1966.

"We leave it to your good judgment, if this is congestion."

E. Wisconsin Avenue

Traffic Hampered by New Snow Melter Test

Snow and bitter cold were making things pretty miserable Tuesday afternoon, but motorists driving home from work on E. Wisconsin Avenue encountered a new experience which left many of them muttering and wondering what was happening.

What was happening was Appleton's public works department was testing a device called a "Snow Melter."

Ideally, the device picks snow off the street, melts it and sends water out into the gutter and down the storm sewers.

Wrong Conditions

However, Tuesday afternoon's conditions weren't quite ideal.

In fact, one observer told The Post-Crescent that "there was one hell of a traffic jam."

The Snow Melter, which needs a snow blower traveling alongside to pick snow off the street, required two traffic lanes on Wisconsin Avenue. Unfortunately, this occurred at the time shifts were changing at nearby industrial plants. Adding to the confusion were huge clouds of steam which gave motorists the impression there was a fire ahead or that something had exploded in the street. Visibility, as a result, for the muttering motorists trying to pass the device, was poor.

Brighter Views

Frank Keuler, Appleton's public works director, had brighter views about the Snow Melter.

"There was a certain amount of icing on the street," he said, "but for the few men involved, instead of all the men we need for hauling snow in trucks, we can afford to run a sander down the street."

Keuler also pointed out that temperatures were exceptional Tuesday which resulted in melted snow freezing more quickly than it normally would and more steam.

Inexperience Blamed

He blamed the steam on inexperience in using the machinery. The chamber should be kept filled with snow and the door leading into the chamber should be sealed, or the steam goes into the atmosphere. Motorists verified there was a lot of steam. There were reports of steam being so thick that it was freezing on auto windshields.

"It has possibilities," Keuler stated. "We're investigating a leasing arrangement."

Officials of the public works department, the city council's street and sanitation committee and several aldermen watched the demonstration. The cost of the 100-ton of snow per hour machine being used Tuesday is $34,000. A smaller, 50-ton-per-hour model, costs $16,000. It's manufactured by Aerotronics, Inc., Wallingford, Conn., and is being sold by Boeck Equipment Co., Milwaukee.

Generally, the test was considered a success. But there were quite a few motorists who wished it had been tested somewhere else at some other time.

Officials Query Downtown Status

Desire to Ground Rumors of Moves to Shopping Centers

Mayor George Buckley was urged Tuesday to take the initiative in determining the status of some stores in downtown Appleton which may be planning to move out.

A discussion on the state of the business district was triggered by Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), council preident, near the close of the board of public works meeting.

However, Mayor Buckley felt that at this point the city should not become involved in rumored situations. The board wanted to know if he was aware of reports involving College Avenue stores moving elsewhere.

City Obligation

Pointer and other board members indicated the city had an obligation to contact the parent offices of some firms and see what their long-range plans are in Appleton.

It was the feeling this should not be only within the confines of Chamber of Commerce activity.

Pointer told the mayor the city should know if and when Montgomery Ward intends to make a move, citing that he has heard for some time that it will close its downtown store and probably locate at a shopping center.

Delegation Suggested

Board members suggested that a delegation of city officials, headed by the mayor, go to Chicago to confer with officials of Wards if necessary.

City officials also expressed interest in the void at the east end of College Avenue where the Geenen Department store has been closed. They said the city had an obligation to help get another business there.

Board members felt the mayor had been non-committal and one alderman said later that he was considering a resolution to bring the situation to the attention of the entire city council.

The matter could come up at tonight's council meeting.

Park Curfew Talks Delayed

Committeemen Not Present for Appleton Debate

A scheduled joint meeting between the park-recreation commission and council's public safety committee to discuss a proposed park curfew did not materialize Tuesday.

Because all the members could not be present for its regular meeting, the commission met alone.

Ald. John Ayers (12th), who has advocated a curfew for all city parks, said he would not let the subject matter lie dormant.

Police Powers

"I feel something should be done to give the police stronger powers," Ayers said.

Asked previously to give its opinion of a curfew, the commission felt an existing anti-loitering ordinance sufficed.

The commission and committee will hold a joint meeting on the curfew matter at a later date.

Ayers said today that Arthur Jones, commission president, indicated prior to his leaving for Florida, that the commission would take another look at Bellaire Park plans, and then complete the project this summer.

The park is in Ayers' ward.

At Rotary Meeting

Mayor Rips Old Targets

Mayor George Buckley was in good humor when he spoke to the Appleton Rotary Club Tuesday noon but it didn't deter him from firing critical blasts at familiar targets.

Claiming he's "a fighter, not a lover," the city's freshman mayor now in the ninth month of a two-year term, was heavy on the story-telling and in between took shots at the school board, Outagamie County and assorted individuals.

Buckley said he was getting along with the city council, explaining some controversy was due to a clash of ideas — not personalities.

Best Interests Sought

When not jesting, Buckley was jousting, and vowing he would fight for the best interests of the people of Appleton.

Buckley ruled out any idea that Appleton will build a new city home, contending Outagamie County was obligated to provide adequate facilities for the aged, and reminding the city taxpayers pay half the cost of county government.

He fired criticism at the board of education for "trying to keep up with the Joneses", alluding to the new $5 million plus senior high school now under construction.

Vicious Cycle

Buckley said the only problem was that once the board got caught up, the Joneses would refinance.

The mayor said the board of education was comprised of what he considered "high class, dedicated people."

But Buckley said the school board should start thinking in terms of what Appleton can afford — "what the average taxpayer can hold still for."

He suggested construction savings be channeled toward giving teachers better pay.

Turning his guns county-side again, Mayor Buckley was less than charitable in his reference to "Clarence Brownson — our county highway commissioner from Shiocton."

Asserting the county highway department had a $1.3 million budget, Buckley asked the question, "Where is it being spent?"

City's Share

Buckley said the answer was out in the county beyond Appleton, and that he and the council were striving to see to it that the city got its share of road projects.

The mayor said a request was made to county officials for $100,000 to be applied to the College Avenue reconstruction project. Outagamie County officials have made a verbal commitment to provide the sum.

After Buckley emptied his bag of criticisms and quips he asked for questions. There were no takers.

Police to Seek Charges Against Youth

Appleton police indicated this morning they would seek charges against a 19-year-old Mayville youth arrested Tuesday evening on a warrant issued by Dodge County authorities.

The youth, who was taken into custody outside a College Avenue restaurant, was being sought on forgery and worthless check counts in Dodge County.

The youth was questioned in connection with the issuing of several worthless checks in Appleton and Milwaukee. He is confined at the city jail.

Appleton Woman Selected To Head State TUNCA

Mrs. Bette Milheiser, Appleton, today announced her tentative appointment as president of the Wisconsin chapter of The United National Consumer Association Inc. (TUNCA).

Mrs. Milheiser said she would await final approval of her application for membership in the organization before assuming duties of the state office.

Creation of TUNCA was announced last week in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Paul West, Denver, is president of the national group. She previously led housewives' groups in Denver when they boycotted several supermarkets and set off a movement which gained national recognition.

The Appleton woman said she learned of her appointment to the post through correspondence from Mrs. West. Other Wisconsin residents named as officers, she said, are Dee Every, Madison, and Mrs. Ruth Ann Olson, Milwaukee. They will serve as assistants to Mrs. Milheiser.

The national organization will work with Congressional committees and businessmen for the purpose of "reducing the cost of living, raising the standards of consumer goods and services and acting as a source of information," according to officials of the Washington, D.C. group.

Assembly Speaker 'Speechless'

Froehlich Given Surprise Tribute By GOP of Outagamie County

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a surprise tribute Tuesday, Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, was hailed by his party's two highest elective office holders and the leadership of the Outagamie County Republican Party.

Gathered in Froehlich's office off the state Assembly chamber, Gov. Warren P. Knowles and Lt. Gov. Jack Olson led a ceremony in which the Outagamie County GOP presented Froehlich with a special plaque, saluting him on his rapid rise in state politics and his recent elevation to the Speaker's chair, most powerful post in the lower house of the Legislature.

Sworn In

Froehlich was unofficially elected to head the Assembly Republicans last fall, and was sworn into the speakership last week by state Supreme Court Chief Justice George Currie as part of the cermonies marking the start of the 1967 session of the Legislature.

The plaque was presented in the surprise ceremony to Froehlich by Knowles, who read the engraved tribute and added his congratulations and best wishes to the newly-elected Speaker.

Outagamie County GOP chairman Murel Edinger, Appleton, opened the ceremony by explaining to Froehlich that the event was planned to cite him for his recent election and to express the county chapter's appreciation for his long-time work for the party in Outagamie County.

Froehlich replied that he was speechless at receiving the tribute, but added his thanks to the local party members and to Knowles and Olson for the tribute.

His election, he pointed out, is beneficial for local Republicans as it marks the first occasion that a Fox Valley legislator has held the Speaker's chair since the 1955 session, when Mark Catlin, then a Republican Assemblyman from Appleton, held the post.

The walnut plaque bears a testimonial citation, a mounted presiding officer's gavel, and a bronze wreath containing the figure of a speaker behind a lectern.

The testimonial reads, "Assemblyman Harold V. Froehlich —For your significant political achievements and your dedicated leadership as recognized in your election as Speaker of the Wisconsin state Assembly this plaque is presented on behalf of the Republican Party of Outagamie County — Jan. 17, 1967."

Twin Cities Banks Hike Interest Rates

NEENAH - MENASHA — Twin Cities banks have announced increases in interest rates of certificates of deposit from 4½ per cent to 5 per cent, the highest legal limit for banks on certificates of less than $100,000.

Bank officials said the increase was to meet competition in a tight money market.

The new certificates at the higher interest rate will be available on either six or 12 month terms. One bank official said certificates were being encouraged at the shorter maturity period to allow greater flexibility in the event interest rates start to drop.

There was some disagreement among local bank officials on whether the higher interest rate would affect the bank lending rate to its customers.

Black Creek Bank Picks New Vice President

Special Meeting Called on Menasha Police Contract

MENASHA — The entire common council will meet with representatives of Local 34, Wisconsin Professional Policemen's Association, in an effort to pry loose the 1967 contract negotiations that have been caught in a stalemate since last fall.

Aldermen conducted a closed discussion Monday night and Tuesday voted to hold a special meeting, also behind closed doors, with police representatives, on a date to be set by the mayor.

Mayor Kenneth Holmes immediately announced the special bargaining meeting will be held at 8 p.m. next Tuesday, Jan. 24. Another executive session will be held an hour earlier, the mayor announced. He said today the first meeting will be to discuss a proposed property purchase.

Factfinding

Police representatives recently issued a statement in which the prospect of fact-finding proceedings was raised unless the negotiations make better headway.

Charging there has been a lack of cooperation from council bargaining representatives, the police also complained that tentative agreements reached in negotiations have been regularly turned down when they are presented to the entire council.

The three-man council finance committee is the official bargaining unit for the city although several other aldermen have attended some of the sessions.

It was asked Tuesday night whether the vote to hold the special session of the council to negotiate meant the entire body would handle negotiations in the future. Mayor Kenneth Holmes said it does not.

Menasha Bank Records Highs During 1966

MENASHA — Deposits, loans and resources of the Bank of Menasha reached new high levels during 1966, H. C. Kosloske, president, told stockholders at a recent meeting.

According to the bank's year-end statement, liabilities and resources reached $10,002,872 for the end of the year.

The directors re-elected the former slate of bank officers. They include Kosloske, president; Fink, vice president; Ellinger, vice president and cashier; L. I. Forman, assistant vice president; Wilfred Beck, assistant cashier, and Lorraine Eckrich, also assistant cashier.

In addition, directors named Thomas Niesen to the new position of loan officer.

the primary service area — 'Outagamie County' — if the institution is constructed on the Shorewood site — in an inaccessible location?"

"Select the Larson site — it best serves the interests of our state."

In all planning papers for the development of the new northeastern Wisconsin UW campus, the primary service area of the school has been continually cited by state officials as including both Brown and Outagamie counties.

The paper also cites facts from the presentation of Brown County which have been changed due to developments in the past 18 months.

It does not mention, for example, that all of the Larson farm site may no longer be available due to a recent release of land for industrial development purposes, but instead quotes the more than year old document stating that the site is completely free of permanent easements, incumbrances and reserved rights.

Changes Plea, Driver Fined

Appleton Man Assessed $175 or 80 Days in Jail

Arlin A. Rucks, 40, 1201 N. Plateau St., Tuesday afternoon changed his plea to no contest on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller, in finding Rucks guilty, fined him $175 and costs or 80 days in jail, and ordered his driver's license be revoked for one year.

Rucks, who was arrested April 9 by county police on U. S. 10 in the Town of Greenville, had pleaded innocent April 12 and demanded a jury trial.

Primary on Tap for 9th Ward Post

Third Candidate Files Paper for City Alderman

An aldermanic primary was assured in the 9th Ward today with the filing of nomination papers for a council post by Edward R. Maloney, 601 E. Coolidge Ave.

He became the third resident of the ward to seek the part-time, $1,200 a year council seat being vacated by Ald. Robert Ebben, who declined to seek re-election.

City Clerk Elden Broehm said the primary would be on Tuesday, March 7.

Also running for alderman in the 9th Ward are James Bethke, news director for Radio Station WHBY, and John R. Kaufman.

May Be Others

There are other wards in which more than two persons are circulating nomination papers so other primary contests may be in the making.

However, Broehm said there would be no citywide primary unless a race should develop for board of education, county court judge or a state supreme court seat.

In other election activity today, Ralph C. Gertsch, 1833 N. Mason St., president of Gertsch Manufacturing Co. and a campaign director for Mayor Buckley in the last election, took out nomination papers for 19th Ward alderman.

Won't Run

John McHugh is also circulating papers in the Ward. Ald. Arthur E. Mueller (19th) announced he would not run for office again.

A former alderman, Howard F. Stumpf, 28 Weimar Ct., has taken out nomination papers in the 13th Ward. He is employed at Consolidated Paper Corp.

Stumpf served on the council until defeated in the last election by the incumbent, Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th).

John Long, head of the mathematics department at Menasha High School, will be the instructor for the series, which will consist of eight two-hour meetings to be held on subsequent Thursdays.

The course provides an insight into the nature of the new or "modern" mathematics, grades one through eight. It will include: some specific characteristics of modern mathematics related to various school programs in mathematics; application and use of sets; numbers and numeration; use of the number line; different methods of analyzing problems, such as methods of long division, multiplication, addition and subtraction; systems with bases other than 10 and some basic applications.

Registration will be taken at the first class Thursday and the fee is $2.

Fourth Candidate Runs in 4th Ward

MENASHA — A fourth candidate for Sixth Ward alderman is circulating nomination papers, making the ward's common council post the most-wanted job in the April elections.

William Krieg, 824 Melissa St., took out papers Monday, City Clerk Harry Kind announced. Krieg was unsuccessful in a previous attempt to win the ward's seat on the council.

An assistant pressman for Geo Banta Co., Krieg is in the race with Ald. Louis Gammey, appointed to the seat late last year when Ald. John Resch moved outside the city, and two other challengers.

James L. Miller, 716 Ida St., is the only candidate in the ward who has filed completed nomination papers. Mrs. Gladys Stepanski, 800 John St., is also still circulating papers.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for filing.

Fitness Class Cancelled

MENASHA — The class in physical fitness for women, which meets every Thursday evening, has been cancelled until further notice due to the illness of the instructor.

Cherry Court Agreement Is Formulated

Town of Menasha, Appleton Concur On Street Project

Appleton and Town of Menasha officials reached an agreement Tuesday on tentative plans for extending Cherry Court, located at the city's southwest border.

Until the city can extend its sanitary sewer facilities in that region, the town will agree to provide service for an estimated 27 residences.

The city will pay the same rate for the service that some town residents did prior to the creation and expansion of a new sanitary district. It will be $450 a year.

Roland Kampo, town chairman, and officials representing the town's sanitary sewer district said they would cooperate with the city.

Town Board

However, they said any agreement or arrangements for working out a cooperative effort in extending Cherry Court in the city and town would require town board approval.

During the meeting of the board of public works at the city hall here, Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) said the city hopes to haul a considerable amount of fill from the College Avenue excavation into the Cherry Court area in conjunction with the new sewer layout and eventual extension of the street.

Kampo, the town's principal spokesman, said he was in accord with the city's plan to extend Cherry Court, adding he felt it should have been done sometime ago.

However, he and other town officials said they did not know where or when they would be able to obtain the fill required for extension of the street into a part of the town.

Start in Spring

Pointer said the city hopes to get the sewer work underway this spring or summer, explaining it would require obtaining easements from the town.

Kampo anticipated no problem with easements and there was general understanding the cost of a large storm sewer pipe in that area would be shared proportionately.

The city will pay to use the town's sanitary sewer until it has completed its own.

It was agreed that city officials will send a letter to the town board, outlining plans for the street extension, so the matter can be considered at the next meeting.

There was no timetable set for the street project. However, city officials indicated they were anxious to get started on the sewer work.

Vandals Drink Pop At Jefferson School

Thirsty vandals entered Edison School Tuesday night and drained eight bottles of pop from a case in the teacher's lounge.

NEENAH — Hardwood Products Corporation Employee's Credit Union will hold its 25th annual meeting at the Eagles Hall in Neenah Feb. 4.

The program will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a dinner followed by a business meeting. Elections will be held for treasurer, one director, and one credit committeeman.

The program will conclude with a door prize drawing, refreshments and dancing.

Modern Vestments

New Garb Donned by Xavier High Teachers

When classes resumed this year after the Christmas vacation at Xavier High School, the students were not the only ones who returned with new clothes.

Sporting new outfits were most of the brothers who teach the boys' classes and the sisters who take care of the girls' instructions.

Gone are the black robes and white collars for the brothers. In their place are black suits, black ties and white shirts, which will be worn for the remainder of the school year at least, according to Brother H. Richard, principal.

Not Unique

The innovation is not unique to Appleton. Since the brotherhood council, which meets every 10 years in Rome to renew the brotherhood and outline plans for the next 10 years, the various chapters have been allowed to experiment with the garb in an effort to update the order.

No decision regarding the robes was made at last year's convention but the convention will continue in October, when the question again will be raised.

It is assumed, however, that the decision will be to change to more modern vestments.

Long in Coming

The change in garments for the sisters has been planned for a long time with other orders already dressed in new styles.

The Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity, the order teaching at Xavier, made a recent change which is less cumbersome for everyday activities and takes almost half as much material.

The white starched headdress is now only a small white band of soft material, and the stiff collar has been changed to a soft cowl. Gone also are the full sleeves, replaced by tapered sleeves. The flowing gown is now a skirt and overblouse.

Hope Invades Far East Once More

BY TV SCOUT

8:30 (Channel 4-5) — The Bob Hope Christmas Special again finds the tireless comedian, with the quick wit and lively step, visiting GIs who couldn't make it home for the holidays. For his 25th trek Hope once more invades the Far East, with the prime stopoff Vietnam. Phyllis Diller, Vic Damone, Joey Heatherton, Anita Bryant, "Miss World", Diana Shelton, the Korean Kittens and Les Brown's band by his side, the comedian proves what a volatile Santa Clous he is. It's obvious the war-weary soldiers find his visits almost as heartening as a furlough. Cameras are turned on their beaming faces as viewers catch glimpses of the 19 shows the Hope troupe performed in its two-week trek. Humor and song are all on the broad, cheerful side, with the accent on what makes a true patriot.

9:30 - 10 (Channels 4-5) — The Barrump-Bump Show is a special which should intrigue admirers of Dom De Luise, the jolly faced comedian often found on The Dean Martin Show. It's a farout revue, with De Luise aided by charmers Vikki Carr and Barbara Eden in a medley of zany sketches and songs. Some of the better moments find him as a dentist, Dominic the Great (a magician who is an authority on nothing), and as a meek visitor to a library. In the latter, he and Miss Eden are especially amusing, rubbing elbows as they sing, "He Touched Me." Title song of the program ("Barrump-Bump" stands for the drum roll punctuation of a comic's joke) also appears a winner.

6:30-7 (Channels 11-6-9) — Batman concludes its first three-parter with The Joker, The Penguin and their quivering assistant, Venus, ready to make hay in the secret Batcave. It's a rather obvious episode with Batman prying open the "mouth" of a gigantic clam, to save Robin's life proving that everybody has a little extra strength stored for emergencies.

6:30-8 (Channel 5) — "Yesterday's Timepiece" on The Virginian takes up the heartaches of Stacy (Don Quine) who is determined to find what happened to his long dead father. Don't expect much humor in this straight forward, melodramatic search. Stacy buys a watch which plays a haunting tune from a peddler and is convinced it will lead him to the man who may have killed his pa. On the way he meets interesting characters like Andy Devine, Pat O'Brien and Stuart Erwin.

6:30-8 (Channels 2-7-12) — A handsome, lilting production of Cinderella, the musical Richard Rogers and Oscar Hammerstein II wrote especially for television in 1957, is a treat for viewers. In this 1965 production, one may quibble about the lightness of the tunes, but it will take a jaded eye to miss the magic. Lesley Ann Warren and Stuart Damon are the young lovers united by a shining glass slipper. Celeste Holm is the fairy godmother, Jo Van Fleet the wicked stepmother, and Pat Carroll and Barbara Ruick are the stepsisters.

7-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — If you like to titter over puppy love running fancy free then you may enjoy The Monroes. James Wyler is the young man who makes Barbara Hershey's heart go whammy. As Kathy, she is gentlye wooed by the young stranger after she is thrown from her horse. Next thing you know she is cheering him on in a horse race, which has brother Clayt (Michael Anderson Jr.) as one of the contestants. The girl couldn't care less about the $5,000 top prize.

8 - 8:30 — (Channels 2-7-12) — Green Acres once again compares the silliness of big city life and the stupidity of country living. In a fairly humorous episode, Oliver's starchy mater pays a visit and is soon the object of a Sioux chief who wants to buy her for four goats and two pigs. J. Carrol Naish as the leader of the howling, dancing Indians makes a formidable opponent for Eleanor Audley, who wishes she had never left Park Avenue.

8-10 (Channels 11-6-9) — Wednesday Night at the Movies has one of the better Elvis Presley pictures. "Flaming Star," which isn't saying much. In this western melodrama with songs, Elvis plays a restless half-breed with a beautiful Indian mother, Dolores Del Rio. Before you can break a string on your geetar, the two are drawn into a frontier squabble between the white and Indian communities. On the sidelines are Barbara Eden, Steve Forrest and John McIntire.

9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Danny Kaye Show is a lively, playful program for fans of the entertainer. His guests are John Gary, who sings "Two Different Worlds" and "Let There Be Peace on Earth" and little ballerina Laurie Ichino, who spins neatly to "Come Dance With Me." Danny contributes spry characters like his Russian storyteller and his old Italian pal, Giovanni.

Singer Barbra Streisand holds infant son Jason Emanuel Gould, as husband and father Elliott Gould looks on at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York City. The child was born there Dec. 29. The father, an actor, is 28; his wife is 24. Young Jason is called a "million dollar baby" because the singer cancelled a singing tour when she became pregnant. Miss Streisand recently starred in the Fanny Brice role in the Broadway Hit "Funny Girl." (AP Wirephoto)

New Suspense Drama Fails to Impress Critic

'Astrakhan Coat' of English Origin, but Below Standard

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — The favorite word of the villain in "The Astrakhan Coat" is "impeccable," a term which unfortunately doesn't apply to the suspense caper itself which opened at Broadway's Helen Hayes Theater. Inept is a more exact description.

This is because Pauline Macaulay constructs her mayhem puzzle on such a string of improbabilities with a gimmicky twist at the end that slick dialogue and able cast efforts never really intrigue a spectator.

The story involves a trio of decadent sinners who set up a hapless little waiter as the patsy of their theft-with-murder scheme. Roddy McDowall portrays the latter with wide-eyed, quivering verve that is momentarily absorbing and amusing, but remains a boob of transcendent stupidity who cannot enlist sympathy.

Brian Bedford, as the dandified ringleader, and Carole Shelley and Job Stewart, a bizarre pair of twin companions in crime, exert a chill superficiality through the affair, which Miss Macaulay's husband, Donald McWhinnie, directed.

In minor roles, Jean Cameron is a stock company landlady, while James Coco and Patrick Tull improbably impersonate members of London's metropolitan police.

Lloyd Burlingame has supplied an imaginative assortment of four settings and fitted up Miss Shelley and Stewart in a blinding asortment of campy, colorful duds.

The English have a reputation as experts in mystery fare. But this import promises more than it delivers.

Banker's Son Found Guilty of Robbing Bank in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A man who identified himself as a Wall Street banker's son was found guilty Monday of the armed robbery of a First Wisconsin National Bank office.

Robert Chase, 23, Jersey City, N.J., told Circuit Judge John L. Coffey he was unemployed and desperate when he held up the bank office four days before Christmas and fled with $2,829.

Chase was taken into custody by two police officers who saw him leave the bank and curbed his stolen car a few blocks away.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Try Your Luck Coloring and Win a Packet of Stamps

BY CAPPY SICK

Boys and girls! The national grand prize in today's coloring contest is a collection of 2,000 world-wide postage stamps.

Think of the fun you could have studying such a vast array of stamps, mounting them in an album and taking them to school to show your classmates!

Follow the Clues

Five of these big collections will be awarded, one to each boy or girl whose contest entry proves to be one of the neatest and most original received from all the cities where this column is published.

A qualifying local prize also is offered. This is a packet of five foreign stamps bearing pictures of Spanish castles, in themselves a fine addition to any young reader's collection. Five Spanish castle packets will be awarded to boys and girls who send in the 5 neatest and most original entries in the Appleton area. These 5 entries will be considered, along with local winners from all other cities, in the selection of the national prize winners.

The contest is easy to enter. The first thing to do is to color the picture above, using paints or crayons. Here are the color clues:

Spaces marked "X" spaces are to be made yellow, "G" spaces, green and unmarked spaces are to be left uncolored. When the colors have been applied, an attractive picture will result.

Clip it out, paste it on a sheet of paper or a postal card, print your name, age, address and zip number beneath it and decorate the entry in any neat, original way with coloring materials, cutouts or other means. Address the completed entry to Cappy Dick's Stamp Packet Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names of the prize winners will be published here and their awards will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

Brain Twisters

Mixing Magic

If I have one bottle that is ½ full of wine and another bottle that is twice the size of the first bottle, but only ¼ full of wine, and if I then fill both of these bottles with water and pour and mix the contents of both in a third larger container, what fraction of my new mixture is wine?

Answer

My new mixture is 1-3 wine. The two bottles together hold a total of three units. The one-unit bottle is ½ full of wine, the two-unit bottle is ¼ full of wine. Thus, each bottle holds ½ unit of wine, making the total amount of wine one unit. When the two bottles are filled with water, there are two units of water, and the mixture is 1-3 wine.

Court Releases Albert Smith on Driving Charge

A six-member Outagamie County court jury late Monday afternoon found a 41-year-old Kaukauna man innocent of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

The verdict in favor of Albert B. Smith, 1609 Kenneth Ave., came following a day-long trial before Judge Urban P. Van Susteren, named to the case after a naffidavit of prejudice had been filed against Judge Gustave J. Keller

Smith was arrested April 28, 1965 on W. Wisconsin Avenue, by Appleton police. He also had been charged with failing to report an accident, but that charge was dismissed following testimony and a motion by Smith's attorney, Gordon Myse, Monday.

Myse made an unsuccessful attempt to have the charges dismissed on grounds that Smith was not afforded a speedy trial. That motion came before the jury was seated.

New 'Credit' Card Advocates 100 Pct. Down Payment Plan

A retired Chicago policeman has copyrighted a new "credit" card — for use only with cash.

According to The Insider's Newsletter, the idea is an attempt to encourage merchants to give special discounts to customers who refrain from charging their purchases.

When a card holder wants to buy something, he goes to a participating store, shows his card and gets a 5 per cent discount for paying cash on the line.

Its inventor calls it the 100 Per cent Down Plan.

Wood Finishes Still Tell Story Of Fine Workmanship, Elegance

BY JEAN OTTO
Post-Crescent Women's Editor

CHICAGO — Whatever else is done in home furnishings, good wood, superbly finished, continues to be the one element that brings universal reaction. Fine cabinets and tables, with the grain rubbed to the surface, spell sturdy timelessness, and are, in reality, what the homemaker seeks when she furnishes her home.

The use of wood is almost clearly spelled out in traditional designs. Altho u g h 'Atomic Woods' promise to make the surface of tables and wood furnishings almost destruction-proof, and men in the industry suggest that wood shortages demand substitutes for the years to come, those who design the furnishings of today are consistently creating new and appealing styles from wood.

Highlighted Oak

New color names have been given the walnut, mahogany and pecan used in English styles. Called brandy, gingersnap and peeled acorn, the finishes are clear, lustrous and act as adjuncts to the wood and design. Pecan is favored in good Modern designs and although tomato red and smoke black are used in accent pieces, the basic color is in the oatmeal brown family, with warm, glowing tones.

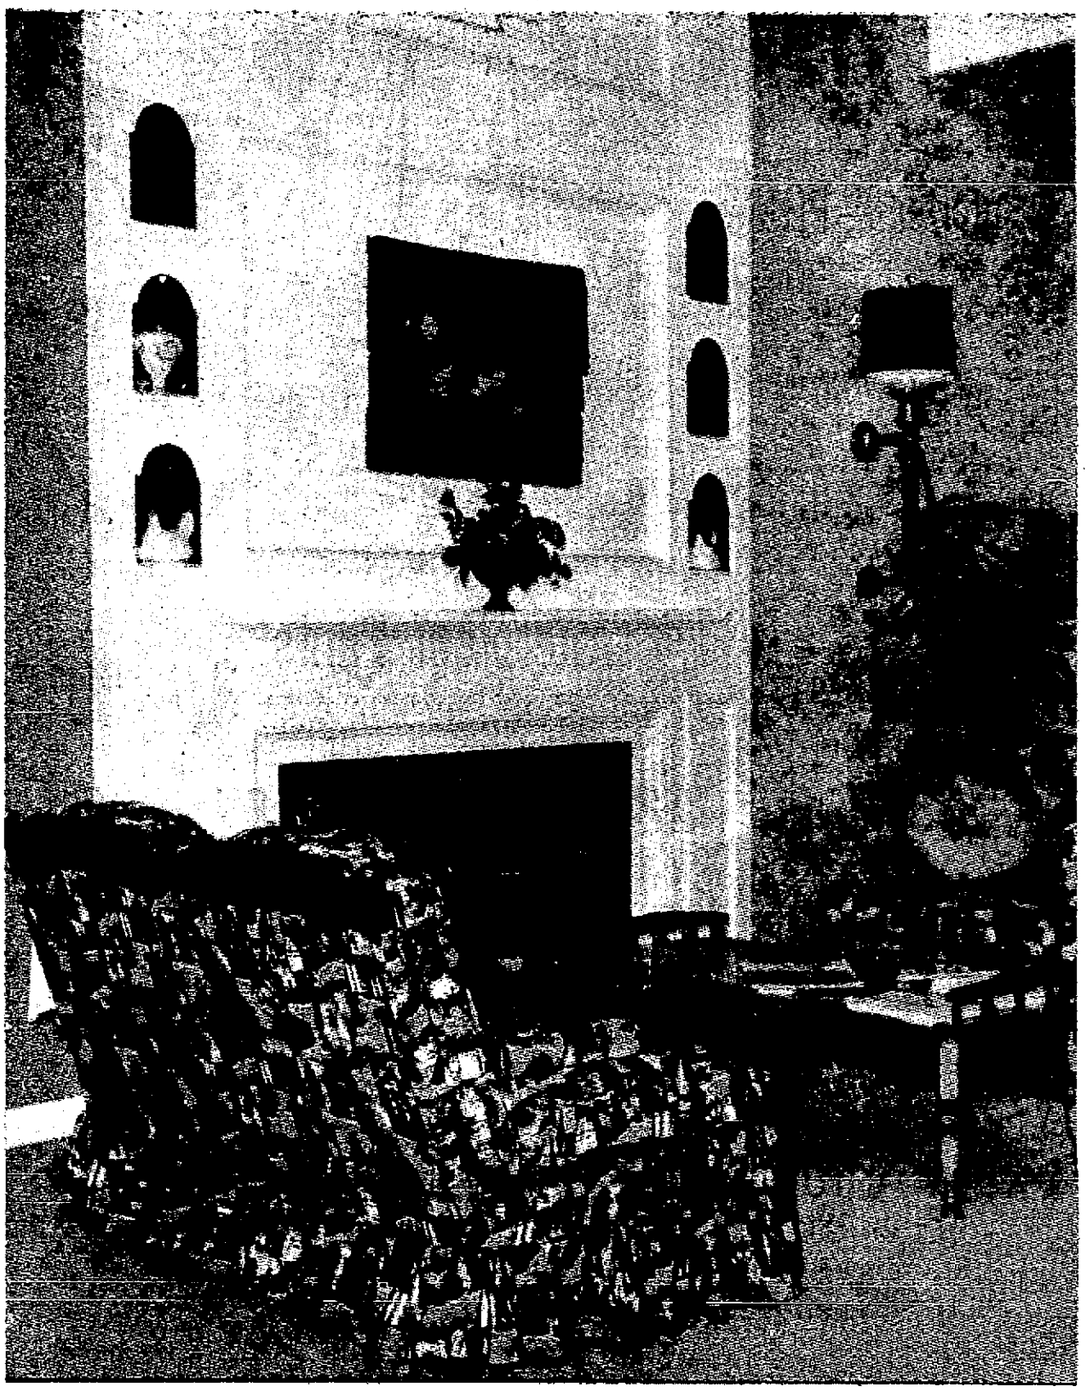

Oak, used in the Mexican assemblage, is dark in color but skillfully highlighted.

The trend in design that recalls the '30s has also brought back the excitement of blond furniture, treated with modern techniques to defy discoloring. The wood combines with the vivid hues of today's fabrics in dramatic fashion, and appears often on contemporary pieces.

'Sparkle' is a word that will be used frequently to define finish in the months to come, says Edward Payne, director of Finish Design for Grand Rapids Varnish Corp., subsidiary of Guardsman Chemical Corp. The word will apply to

Desks, Hutches and Double hutches combine, side by side, to present a setting rich in wood and important in storage. From a setting arranged by Sprague and Carleton at the American Furniture Mart for the January show, the furniture above is part of their King's Arrow collection. Called 'correlates', the pieces include table with of without lazy susan and chairs. At left, the importance of Early American is shown in a pair of matching love seats flanking a fireplace. The quilted cotton fabrics are Scotchgarded. The setting was shown by Crestline Furniture Co. Below, Authentic Furniture Co. the largest colonial chair manufacturer in the country, displayed a recreation area or den surrounded by walls composed of chair and table legs. The firm has laid out a display design for shops, and includes among its settings a bar area that looks as sturdy as a colonial musketeer. (Post-Crescent Photos by Jean Otto)

Neither Red China Faction Willing to Force Showdown

Liu Followers Ignore Ultimatum Presented by Mao's Forces

By EUGENE LEVIN

TOKYO (AP) — Red China's feuding Communist leaders appeared deadlocked in their power struggle today with each unwilling to compromise or to force a showdown.

A week after Mao Tse-tung issued a virtual ultimatum to the followers of President Liu Shao-chi, there was every indication it had been ignored and that Mao's boast of support from the armed forces had not budged his opponents.

Mao's New China News Agency referred in one dispatch to "the bastions in which counter-revolutionary revisionism has entrenched itself" and refrained from proclaiming final victory over what it called the "latest counter attack" by Mao's opponents.

Passed Peak

The Peking correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri reported that the upheaval on the mainland seemed to have "passed its peak" and that tension was subsiding in Shanghai, Nanking, Peking and other cities.

He credited the changed atmosphere to Mao's personal assumption of leadership.

But the available evidence pointed out a pause only.

In Shanghai, where Mao's official news outlets admitted anti-Mao strikes and sabotage had occurred, Liu's followers presumably were clinging to the municipal party apparatus.

Official organs for the past week charged that Shanghai party leaders had turned workers against Mao by promising them higher wages and better working conditions. But the dispatches did not say these leaders had been replaced. The implication was that they were holding on to their jobs.

Industrial Center

It was doubtful that such a situation could continue long. Shanghai, a city of eight million, is the commercial hub of China. Industrial and commercial unrest there could poison the country's business life and compel Mao's faction to force a showdown there.

So far it has not been able to do so or has not wanted to.

President Liu has been under attack in Red Guard wall posters for almost two months and in party cells for at least six months. That he and his followers have resisted the attacks for so long, and in a Communist state, testifies to their strength.

They appear to hold positions of such strength in the party that it seems to be more a case of Mao rebelling against them than their rising against him. Mao's supporters call themselves "revolutionary rebels."

One of the current targets of Red Guard posters is Marshal Chu Teh, the venerated 80-year-old father of the Chinese Red army. The Japanese Kyodo News Agency said he was attacked for the third day in a row, with a poster charging he had sought to undermine Mao for almost 40 years.

3-Week Recess Scheduled

State Legislative Sessions Altered To Add Time for Committee Work

MADISON (AP) — The 1967 legislature will try to speed its working pace through a pause and postponements.

Republican leaders in the Assembly have agreed to a Senate suggestion for a three-week recess in floor action starting March 10. They also decided Tuesday to postpone daily floor sessions until the afternoons, starting next week.

The changes were designed to earmark more time for crucial committee work on the anticipated $1.1 billion general state budget and other major measures.

Sen. Walter G. Hollander, R-Rosendale, co-chairman of the Joint Finance Committee, said budget hearings by his group would begin almost as soon as Gov. Warren P. Knowles submits his spending package to the legislature.

Spending Requests

Hollander said the committee would scrutinize smaller agency items first and schedule thorough review of larger spending requests, such as those of the universities and welfare, for the recess period which would run through April 4. Other committee hearings also would be planned for this period.

Republican leaders have set a target date of mid-April for getting the budget bill onto the floor, as part of present hopes to finish the session by May 31—a deadline which, if met, would be the earliest windup since 1903.

Gov. Knowles, who outlined his highway safety proposals for the legislature Tuesday, will return to present the budget Jan. 26.

The highway safety package is expected to be the first of the major Knowles proposals to arrive in the legislature as actual bills.

Driver Education

The bills have already been drafted on periodic retesting of drivers, mandatory inspection of vehicles, required driver education for motorists under 18, an increase in the state minimum drinking age to 21, and an increase of 100 troopers in the State Highway Patrol.

Work on other recommendations, including a proposed requirement to permit automatic intoxication tests of motorists charged wuth drunken driving, is near completion.

The introduction is being delayed, however, until a strategy decision is made on whether the proposals should be offered as separate measures or as one omnibus bill.

The package was expected to arrive in the legislature next Wednesday or Thursday.

Other major bills backed by Knowles may not be ready for introduction for another two weeks.

With bills sent to committees for public hearings and review before reaching a vote, much of the work in the early weeks of the legislature will take place off the floor.

The change in the daily schedule would allow mornings to be used for committee hearings instead of formal floor sessions, which represent the only pre-noon activity under the present system. The floor sessions would be moved back until the end of the day.

Senator majority leader Jerris Leonard, R - Bayside, said the change would be done on a trial basis, but he said he anticipated it would continue until at least mid-April, two weeks after the recess ends.

Cows in Nation's Herds in 1966 Drop 860,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department survey has indicated the number of cows in the nation's milk producing herds declined by about 860,000 head last year. The average number milked during the year was 14,617,000 compared with 15,477,000 in 1965.

This was a decline of about 5.4 per cent. But milk production dipped only 3 per cent because the average amount of milk produced per cow went up from an average of 8,080 pounds in 1965 to 8,310 last year.

Dairy cow numbers have declined 42 per cent from the peak of 25.6 million in 1944. But milk production is 3 per cent greater than in 1955, reflecting increases in production per cow.

Hanoi Putting Antiaircraft Batteries in Populous Areas

Constant Battering Has Forced Move, Gen. Wheeler Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The almost-daily U.S. bombing of North Vietnam apparently is forcing the enemy to disperse more of its antiaircraft batteries and key supply depots among heavily populated areas, reports Gen. Earle G. Wheeler.

"This is a rough game," the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said Tuesday night, "particularly if the targets happen to be antiaircraft batteries. If it's only a few barrels of oil, it doesn't make much difference."

Wheeler, who returned Friday from a week-long inspection trip to Vietnam, said "there seems to be a growing trend in this direction" and added that the North Vietnamese know "our policy is not to attack populated areas per se."

The net result, he suggested, is that "in certain instances this makes installations immune to attack."

Bombing Effective

On the other hand, Wheeler said the enemy's efforts amount to a tribute to the effectiveness of U.S. bombing, which he praised as an "integral and indispensable part of our operations against the North Vietnamese."

"The effectiveness of our air campaign is made increasingly clear by enemy propaganda complaints," the nation's top general said in a speech to a dinner meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society. "And now to escape it, and to seek more propaganda fuel, he appears to be placing his own population into hostage."

Wheeler's remarks apparently were aimed at the controversy that flared over U.S. bombing attacks on the Hanoi area last Dec. 13 and 14. Communist news agencies charged that more than 100 civilians were killed or injured in the raids and U.S. officials later placed two key targets off-limits.

In other related developments:

Soviet Trade

—Congressional Republicans indicate they will oppose any administration attempts to widen trade with the Soviet Union or other Iron Curtain countries that now are aiding North Vietnam.

—The State Department announced it has revoked the passports of three of four women who had visited North Vietnam without the department's approval. One of the women, Patricia Griffith of Ithica, N. Y. said she would fight the order.

—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant reportedly has received about 5,000 letters as a result of his opposition to U.S. policies in Vietnam. None of them is critical, sources said.

—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said that if the United States continues to escalate the war in Vietnam it will be recorded in history as "the greatest contributing cause to World War III."

—Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said the sole reason for the U.S. involvement in Viet Nam "is our proud refusal to admit a mistake" and has nothing to do with treaties or commitments.

14 Senators Want Butter Returned To Military Diet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fourteen senators, including Wisconsin Democrats William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson, joined Tuesday in urging Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara to reinstitute the use of butterfat in the diets of American military personnel.

The group stated in a letter that the use of butterfat substitutes in milk products was a "false economy." They also said such use violated interstate quality standards enforced by the Food and Drug Administration and had an adverse impact on the country's dairy farmers "indirect defiance of a Senate resolution passed in the 89th Congress."

Slower Economic Growth Predicted

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond says the U.S. economy will slow from a growth rate of 8.5 per cent last year to 6 per cent this year.

Edward A. Wayne said "we cannot grow at unsustainable rates and we should not expect it."

Byrnes Appointed to Committee Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin was appointed Tuesday to the Republican party's committee on committees by House GOP leader Gerald Ford of Michigan. The group of 12 will make party assignments to House committees.

Ford also named Byrnes and Wisconsin colleagues Glenn Davis and Melvin Laird to the Republican policy committee of 27 members.

Ex-Alabama Deputy Charged With Assault

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Justice Department has filed a misdemeanor charge against a former Elmore County deputy sheriff, claiming he assaulted a Negro found dead in a cell at the county jail last Nov. 20.

The federal charge against Harvey King Conner was filed in U.S. District Court Tuesday and Conner was summoned to appear for arraignment March 1.

Admiral Dies In House Fire

Fowler Had Been In Charge of Naval Air Reserve Training

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP) — Rear Adm. Richard L. Fowler, 53, chief of U.S. naval air reserve training, died in a fire early today in his home at Glenview Naval Air Station.

Fowler's wife, Mederies, 50, was seriously burned. His son, Richard, 12, and daughter, Julia, 16, suffered minor cuts and burns.

Adm. Richard Fowler

Fowler directed 18 naval air stations and training units throughout the United States. His command included some 29,000 selected air reservists and more than 9,000 active airmen.

The fire broke out in the living room of Fowler's two-story frame house at the air station, about 20 miles northwest of Chicago. Firemen carried Fowler out through a window of his bedroom, directly over the living room where the fire began. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Started in Fireplace

Authorities said a burning log or an ember from the living room fireplace may have started the blaze.

The daughter, Julia, said she was awakened by the barking of the family dog. She ran to the home of a neighbor, who called the base fire department.

Mrs. Fowler and Julia were admitted to Lutheran General Hospital in nearby Park Ridge. Richard was treated and released.

Fowler became chief of Naval Air Reserve training in September 1965. He directed the training and operational readiness of the reserve.

Prospects for Treatment Of 'Strangler' Not Good

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A state psychiatrist says the prospects for successful treatment of Albert DeSalvo, the self-styled Boston strangler, are not good.

Dr. Samuel Tartakoff, director of legal medicine for the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health, told a Middlesex County Superior Court jury Tuesday there is no specific treatment for DeSalvo's condition which he described as a "character disorder."

"He is treatable," Tartakoff said, "in that the effort to treat him might be made, with no assurance as to whether there might be change."

He added: "The prognosis is not good."

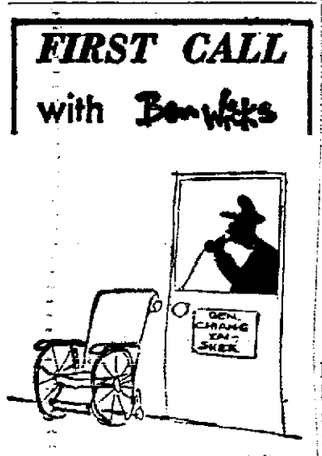

Under cross-examination by defense attorney F. Lee Bailey, Tartakoff said DeSalvo had told him he expected to be confined for the rest of his life. "He expressed the hope that what psychiatrists might learn from him would help him or help others after him," Tartakoff said.

Tartakoff was the last witness heard by the all-male jury as testimony was completed in DeSalvo's trial on charges of attacking four women in their suburban Boston homes in 1964.

Attorneys for both sides were to start summations today, followed by the judge's charge to the jury. The case was to go to the jury in the afternoon.

None of the charges is related to the 13 stranglings in eastern Massachusetts between June 1962 and January 1964.

Bailey has based his defense of DeSalvo solely on the contention that the 35-year-old former contractor's helper was not legally sane at the time of the attacks.

Your Problems

Ann Sent to 'Doghouse' by Reader Who Prefers Animals

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read your column for a long time and I use to enjoy it, but lately I've developed an intense dislike for you because you ridicule animal lovers.

The way the world is going lately animals are showing more intelligence than people. To prove my point I hope you will print this incident: A friend of mine, who has been accustomed to being turned away by hotel clerks in the United States because of his dog, went to check into a hotel in Jamaica. The desk clerk said, "Of course we'll take you and your dog. Why not? I have been in the hotel business for 40 years and I have never once had to throw out a disorderly dog. Never has a dog set fire to a mattress, stolen a blanket or sneaked a girl into his room."

What do you think now, Ann Landers? — L.R.

Dear L.R.: I think your letter is very interesting. But never have I been bitten by a guest in an elevator nor have I been kept awake by a guest who barked all night in the next room.

Some people behave like animals and some animals behave like ladies and gentlemen, but the balanced person never confuses the two. Pet lovers who begin to look upon animals as if they were people lose me completely.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am married to a man named Mr. Johosafat Hegdish. I made up this name to protect the guilty, so please don't substitute a name out of the blue because you might hit it and I'd die of embarrassment.

My husband was divorced from his wife three years ago and we were married 18 months later. His ex-wife insists on caling herself Mrs. Johosafat Hegdish. She uses this name in the phone book, for charge accounts and club memberships.

I feel she should call herself Mrs. Claudette Hegdish, and not use Johosafat's name since it belongs to me. Am I correct when I say she has a lot of nerve? Mistaken Identity

Dear Identity: There's more than just nerviness involved. Claudette is using the name that legally belongs to you. I suggest that the real Mrs. Johosafat Hegdish stand up and make it clear.

Story of Elegance In Finish

finishes, will not refer to shininess of surface but to an inherent built-in down-in-the-wood brightness and life.

Colonial Strong

In styling, Early American and Colonial continue strong in the total design roundup, with hardrock maple as desired as ever and the furnishings taking on more and more comfort features. Wood cabinets in English styling or Early American grouping offer variety and excellence of design. Many of these come in interlocking pieces, so that all the walls of a room can become cabinetry with a purpose, should the homeowner desire.

Much wood is also shown for recreation areas of the home, or for a den-workroom for the man of the house.

Again, in showing their wares for 1967, furniture manufacturers applied the principle that furnishings are best shown in settings that can be mentally transferred to the home. It's not so much the product as what can be done with it, many believe, and carry through by providing individual dealers with blueprints of how to set up similar displays in their own shops.

A glimpse of the "good old days" is this hearty sandwich of pork slices barbecued in a tangy olive sauce and served on pumpernickel with a mound of crisp kraut.

Sandwich Recalls Hearty, Free, Stand-Up Lunch of Yesterday

The stand-up free lunch so popular in pubs and taverns at the turn of the century has all but disappeared into infinity right along with the nickel cigar, the five-cent beer and the triple-dip, multi-colored ice cream cone.

In its heyday, the free lunch was something to see. Massive mahogany or oak bars groaned under huge patters of sliced hot and cold meats. hard-boiled eggs, bowls of various relishes, slabs of bread, tubs of clams, wedges of golden yellow cheeses and lots of other hearty fare. The food was apt to be salty, quite highly seasoned or both. This, of course, was the whole point to stimulate the thirst.

This sandwich of Olive Barbecued Pork on slices of dark pumpernickel bread served with a healthy mound of kraut is typical pub lunch fare which can be duplicated easily for lunch or supper.

Leftover pork is just fine for the barbecue. Pimiento-stuffed olive slices provide tangy flavor and interesting texture for the barbecue sauce. The kraut, spiked with a bit of onion, goes on the sandwich as is . . . crisp, crunchy and moist.

OLIVE BARBECUED PORK AND KRAUT SANDWICHES

- 8 ounces tomato sauce
- ¼ cup chili sauce
- 3 tablespoons dark brown sugar
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- ½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire
- ½ pound thinly-sliced roast pork
- 2 cups drained sauerkraut
- 2 tablespoons chopped scallion or green onion
- 8 large slices pumpernickel bread, buttered

Combine tomato sauce, chili sauce, brown sugar, garlic, olives and Worcestershire in saucepan; mix well. Simmer five minutes. Add pork and heat. Mix together kraut and scallion. Prepare four sandwiches with kraut, pork and bread.

Drifts, Icy Hills Overcome By Driver's Skill, Patience

Despite the security good winter tires and a smooth-running car give you, driving this time of year is a challenge. It demands extra patience, extra alertness and the following special techniques:

The trick in getting through snow is to go slowly and keep moving. On the highway, allow much more than the usual one-car-length-for-every-ten-miles-of-speed between your car and the one ahead. At least 20 car lengths at all times isn't too much.

When approaching a hill, gain the momentum you need to carry you up and over before you start the climb. If you speed up on the hill, you'll probably just spin your wheels. Use low gear in going down the other side. Some slick hills, of course, shouldn't be attempted without special tires. On unplowed or unimproved roads, avoid driving in ruts, especially if they're icy.

'Feather' Brakes

If you should get stuck in the snow, don't do what common sense may dictate — don't go into low gear and step down hard on the accelerator. You'll only dig in deeper. First try rocking the car. Point the front wheels straight ahead, start slowly and go as far forward as you can. Shift quickly, then go as far back as you can.

As the backward-forward momentum increases, it can swing you up and out of the rut. If it doesn't, you need more traction under the rear wheels. This you can get by putting cinders, boards, branches, folded newspapers, or sand — sand should be standard winter equipment in your car — under the rear wheels. Letting some air out of the tires helps, too. If your wheels just keep spinning and deepening their ruts, don't persist. Call for a tow.

On both ice and snow, use low gear sparingly and avoid quick starts and abrupt stops. Just dab or "feather" the brakes. Even with the best winter tires, sudden hard braking at higher speeds can throw you into a real tailspin.

If you do get caught in a high-speed skid, resist your natural inclination to brake and turn away from it. Quickly lift your foot from the brake and turn into the skid — the direction the car is slipping. As the car straightens, straighten the wheel to compensate for a possible skid in the other direction.

Princess Anne A Hem Blazer

LONDON (AP) — A member of Britain's royal family has finally appeared in public in a miniskirt. Well, almost a mini.

Princess Anne is the hem blazer.

Returning to Benenden School Tuesday, the queen's 16-year-old daughter wore a skirt at least two inches above her knees — some said it was as high as four — white net stockings, a military type jacket and boots.

"At last, a real royal fashion swinger," said the Daily Mirror.

"Swinging princess in the rocker look," exclaimed the Daily Mail.

"Her swinging highness goes back to school," said the Sun.

"The up to the minute princess," headlined the Sketch.

Hot Pies for Cold Days

Straight from England comes the above Savoury Veal and Ham Pie with its double crust. Another favorite recipe combines lamb and vegetables for a second main dish that's typically English. Both are excellent for a buffet party as well as for family fare.

Chicken Pie, upper right, comes to the table dressed up with pastry leaves and a frilly fluted edge. A perfect dish for cold weather meals, this recipe has its origin in Yankee New England.

The Cheese and Onion Pie, right, is borrowed from the popular French "quiche." A wonderful bread - and - butter kind of supper, it combines eggs and milk readily in a baked dish that adapts to pie-shaped servings.

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

Br-r-r-r-r is the only word for it. Turn on the oven and start baking . . . this is the weather for it. Besides making the kitchen cozy and warm, the aroma of foods while baking is simply magnificent and soul-satisfying on below-zero days.

One thing is certain . . . the pioneers before us must have lived through days like these and definitely under more breezy conditions. Which brings to mind tried and true dishes that go back in culinary history . . . pot or deep dish pies with either one or two pastry crusts. When the wind howled around the settler's home, the homemaker brought out her family standbys in the way of baked foods.

If she was a Yankee, the dish might be an English meat savoury or a Yankee New England Chicken Pie. If she was French-Canadian by marriage or background, the quick pie probably was a variation of the French "quiche." This is a combination of eggs and milk baked in an open pastry shell and served pie fashion.

For the record, the English have been partial to meat, cheese and egg pies for centuries. They prefer the one-dish, meal-in-one pie to the dessert kind.

As a matter of fact, they call the dessert type flans or tarts. English meat pies sometimes have only a bottom crust, but frequently have two and often they are "served up fancy" with a decorative top crust. The English also use a short crust . . . what we call flaky pastry made with flour, salt, water and a solid all-vegetable shortening. Then they decorate them with cutouts, pastry leaves and buds make a very pretty dish indeed.

So, here's to some excellent eating of pie.

VEAL AND HAM PIE

- 2½ pounds boneless veal, cubed
- ½ pound ham, cubed
- Flour
- Salt and pepper
- ¼ cup solid all-vegetable shortening
- 1 cup chicken stock or bouillon
- ½ pound mushrooms, sliced
- ½ teaspoon thyme
- 2 bay leaves
- 2 strips lemon peel
- ½ cup milk

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup solid all-vegetable shortening
- ¼ cup water
- 1 egg, slightly beaten

Dredge veal and ham in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. In large kettle, heat shortening. Add veal and ham and saute until browned. Stir in chicken stock, mushrooms, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth to one-half teaspoon pepper, thyme, bay leaves and lemon peel. Cook covered 45 minutes; stir in milk. Place a custard cup upside down in 2½ quart casserole, if desired. Pour veal mixture into casserole around custard cup. Cool.

Meanwhile, combine two cups flour with one teaspoon salt in bowl. Cut in three-fourths cup shortening until uniform but coarse. Sprinkle with water, toss with a fork and press into a ball. On a lightly floured surface, roll out pastry one-and-a-half inches larger than casserole. (Pastry should be about one-fourth inch thick.) Wet edges of casserole.

Lift pastry onto casserole over cooled veal mixture. Fold under edges and form into a roll pressing firmly against rim of casserole. Cut a cross in the center of the pastry with a knife and fold back cut edges; brush with egg. Cut decorative leaves from pastry trimmings and arrange around hole. Make a decorative pastry bud, if desired, and place in center of hole. Brush entire top with egg. Bake in 400-degree oven 45 minutes, or until golden brown. Recipe makes eight to ten servings.

DECORATIVE PASTRY BUD

Shape a piece of pastry into a small ball. Roll out two small pastry circles and shape around ball, gathering loose edges together underneath and pressing together. Cut a cross into top of pastry ball with a sharp knife. Open out and turn back segments to make a bud.

LAMB AND VEGETABLE PIE

- 6 lamb shanks
- ¼ cup solid all-vegetable shortening
- 2 cups beef bouillon or broth
- 1 teaspoon each: salt, coarsely ground black pepper, thyme, crushed rosemary leaves, basil
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 large carrots, cut in julienne strips
- 8 small white onions, parboiled 15 minutes
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ¼ cup water

* *

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup solid all-vegetable shortening
- ¼ cup water
- 1 egg, slightly beaten

In large skillet or saucepan, brown shanks in one-fourth cup shortening 25 to 30 minutes. Place shanks in shallow roasting pan.

Combine beef bouillon, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, thyme, rosemary, basil, garlic and chopped onion. Pour over shanks. Cover and bake in 350-degree oven one-and-a-half to two hours, or until meat is tender.

Allow shanks to cool; remove meat from bone. Skim fat from broth and reserve. Place a custard cup upside down in baking dish, if desired.

Arrange meat, carrots and onions in prepared dish. Combine flour with water. Add to reserved broth and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils one minute. Pour over meat. Allow to cool.

Meanwhile, combine 2 cups flour with teaspoon salt in mixing bowl. Cut in shortening until uniform but coarse. Sprinkle with water; toss with fork and press into ball. On lightly floured board, roll out pastry one-and-a-half inches larger than casserole. Wet edges of casserole. Lift pastry onto cooled casserole. Fold under edge and form into a roll, pressing firmly on edges of casserole to seal. Score crust with knife, decorate with pasty leaves, if desired, and brush with egg. Bake in 400-degree oven 45 minutes, or until crust is golden brown. Recipe makes about six servings.

NEW ENGLAND CHICKEN PIE

- 3 pound chicken
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 cup water
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ pound sliced ham, diced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ¾ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon dill weed
- ¼ teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- ¼ pound mushrooms, sliced
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ¾ cup solid all-vegetable shortening
- ¼ cup water
- 1 egg, slightly beaten

Place chicken in shallow roasting pan. Add onion, cup water and one teaspoon salt. Bake in 350 degree oven one hour, or until meat is tender. Remove chicken from pan, reserving stock and onion.

Allow chicken to cool; remove meat from bones and slice. Arrange chicken and ham in 9-inch pie pan.

In saucepan melt butter. Stir in two tablespoons flour. Gradually add reserved stock and onion (about one-third cup) and milk; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils one minute. Stir in dill, pepper and mushrooms. Cover and simmer five to seven minutes. Stir in peas. Pour over chicken in pie plate. Allow to cool.

Meanwhile, combine two cups flour and remaining teaspoon salt in bowl. Cut in shortening until uniform but coarse. Sprinkle with fourth - cup water, toss with a fork and shape into a ball.

On a lightly floured surface, roll out pastry two inches larger than inverted pie plate. (Pastry should be about one-fourth inch thick.) Trim edges even. Cut a strip, about one inch wide, from pastry circle. Brush rim of pie plate with water and fit pastry strip on rim, pressing to seal. Lift remaining pastry circle onto pie plate; press edges of circle to strip to seal. Holding a sharp knife horizontally, make a series of cuts in the edge of the pastry all around the pie.

Flute the edge by forming indentations between thumb and forefinger with the edge of a knife. Decorate with leaves cut from scraps of pastry, if desired. Score top to allow steam to escape and brush top with egg. Bake in 400-degree oven 45 minutes, or until crust is golden brown.

CHEESE AND ONION PIE

- ¼ pound grated white sharp cheddar cheese
- Piecrust shell
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2 teaspoons instant minced onion
- ½ teaspoon worcestershire sauce
- few grains salt

Set oven at 400 degrees Sprinkle cheese in unbaked piecrust shell. Mix remaining ingredients in a 1½ quart bowl. Pour over cheese. Bake on cookie sheet 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 15 minutes more, or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Serve immediately. Recipe serves six.

Variation

Cheese and Bacon — Sprinkle six slices cooked bacon, crumbled, over cheese. Bake as above.

Not Enough To Have Resolutions

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

It isn't enough to make good resolutions near the beginning of a year; you must also improve your luck. Otherwise you might run into the kind of misfortune that dogged South in the hand shown today.

East took the kind of hearts and shifted to the queen of diamonds. This was very unlucky for South. If East had led any other suit South would have made his contract without the slightest trouble.

South won with the king of diamonds and led a trump to force out the ace. The bad luck continued, for East returned the jack of diamonds.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace of diamonds, drew another round of trumps and then started the clubs. West took the ace of clubs and produced a diamond. The defenders thus took a trick in each suit, defeating the contract.

It was unlucky for South, but even unluckier for North. It's very unlucky to have a partner who throws away an unbeatable contract.

See Danger

South should see the danger when East shifts to diamonds at the second trick. Declarer must lead clubs at once instead of wasting time with a round of trumps.

West takes the ace of clubs and leads a diamond to dummy's ace. Now declarer tries to run the clubs to get rid of his losing diamond. East ruffs the third club with his low trump, and South over-ruffs.

South gets to dummy by ruffing a heart and leads another club. This time East cannot prevent the discard. East ruffs with the ace of trumps, and South gets rid of the losing diamond. The defenders can then complain about their hard luck: it's always unlucky for the defense when the declarer plays the hand properly.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player doubles. You hold. S 3 2; H J 6 3 2; D 5 4 2; C A 8 7 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts. Whether the opponent doubles or overcalls, this is your only cheap chance to show the heart support and limited strength. If you keep silent now, you may never have another chance to speak up.

Self-Protection Important When Traveling Alone

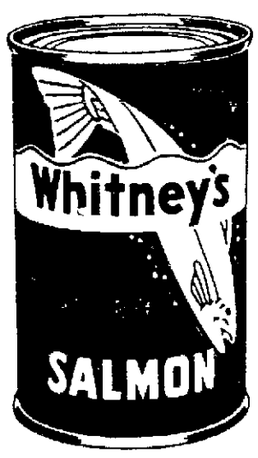

"Raise the hood, get back in the car, lock all doors and windows." This is advice for a woman with a stalled car when traveling alone.

Because a woman is often unfamiliar with the mechanical operation of a car and with her surroundings she must take extra precautions for self-protection when car trouble occurs. Only official help should be accepted when stalled at the side of the road.

The gas tank should be kept as full as possible to avoid stalling far from a service station. When followed too closely or curbed by another car, she should blow her horn repeatedly to attract attention and rout the pursuer.

Precautions are also necessary when walking, riding public transportation or waiting in a public place.

You're right,

is best.

Employes at Kaukauna Sign Two-Year Contract

Council Authorizes Salary Increases for Hourly Workers; Ups Annual Pay Schedules

KAUKAUNA — The council Tuesday night authorized salary increases for many city officials and accepted a two-year contract with Local 130 of the City Employes Union, but is not ready to adopt a salary ordinance, pending negotiations with police and firemen.

The city employes contract calls for 12 cents per hour increase in 1967 and 11 cents in 1968. In addition, the city agreed to pay double time on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's and to have the city clerk collect union dues through deductions from salary checks.

Hourly increases raise base pay for a probationary employe for 1967 to $2.07 per hour and for common labor to $2.26 per hour. Based on job classification, top pay for city workers in 1967 will be $2.98 per hour.

Annual Salaries

Other increases call for police and fire chief salaries to be raised from $7,266 per year to $7,800 per year, plus longevity; deputy city clerk's salary increased from $4,800 to $5,200; secretary in clerk's office changed from hourly pay to $4,000 per year; assistant building, plumbing and gas inspector increased from $5,150 to $5,500 per year and city nurse increased from $5,600 to $6,400 per year.

City stenographer salary was set at $3,600 per year after March 31. The stenographer who retires on that date will receive pay at last year's rate of $4,656 per year. The salary of health officer was increased from $150 to $175 per year and the instructor of arts and crafts was raised from $3,400 to $3,500 per year with an additional $50 per month during the summer for extra duties.

The sealer of weights and measures received an increase of $100 to $1,300 per year. Salary of park superintendent was raised from $6,050 to $6,500; clerk in recreation department from $3,100 to $3,500; relief director, recreation director and assistant health officer from $6,800 to $7,400; class A park worker from $4,750 to $5,200; class B worker from $4,500 to $4,800 and class C worker from $4,330 to $4,600.

The city attorney fee for court appearances was put on a flexible rate, ranging from $30 to $100, where formerly a $30 per day rate was set. He was also granted $15 per month for clerical help.

Salaries of the director of civil defense and director of public works are to be set after meetings with the board of public works. Unchanged were the salaries of aldermen, extra clerical help, school commissioners, police and fire commissioners and election workers.

Whole History of The NFL Was at Stake, Says Hart

Some Packers Feel Chiefs Would Be 'Break Even' Club in NFL

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Super Bowl was a different kind of game . . . unlike any the Packers ever did or ever will play.

It was still football, mind you, but the impact and-or the meaning was beyond the ordinary league game or even the annual National Football League championship game.

Doug Hart, who joined with teammates Ron Kostelnik and Bob Long at the weekly luncheon of the Mike and Pen Club Tuesday noon at the Beaumont Inn, explained it this way:

"This game wasn't so much for ourselves as it was for the 520 other players in the National Football League.

"You had the whole history of the league, Johnny Blood and all the guys who built up the league . . . it was all at stake.

"We had all these things on our mind and as a result we might have been a little tight emotionally."

The three players agreed that "you have got to have emotion but you can't be over-emotional. Then you will make mistakes."

Kostelnik felt that "this might have been our trouble in the first half." The Chiefs played the Packers virtually even in the first half, which ended 14-10, Green Bay. The Packers dominated the second half, 21-0.

'Planting Our Feet'

At one point in the second quarter, Defense Coach Phil Bengtson gathered around the defensers on the bench and "told us to start doing the fundamental things, like planting our feet right when we make a tackle," Hart said.

Coach Vince Lombardi made no special plea between halves, said Hart, explaining: "He rarely does. It had to do with the strategy of the game and how we were playing."

The defensive back recalled that "the only time he said anything unusual (other than the business of the game) between halves was in Detroit when we were behind, 21 to 3. He said 'Let's go out and play so that when you come back you can be proud of the way you played.'" The Packers scored 28 points in the second half to win 31-21.

After the Super Bowl victory, Lombardi "told us that we have a lot to be thankful for and that he was proud of us."

The players felt that "we went into the game feeling we could win but before the half we realized that we had a tough ball game on our hands."

The discussion got around to the large number of play passes (when the quarterback fakes off to a back before sliding back to pass) and Kostelnik said "I've

Vance's Joy Tempered by Circumstances

Former 'Whiz Kid' Becomes Illinois' Athletic Director

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Gene Vance was named athletic director of scandal-shaken University of Illinois Tuesday and said that "the joy is tempered somewhat by the circumstances."

The 43-year-old former basketball Whiz Kid of Illinois' title teams of 1942 and 1943 will take over his duties April 1.

fair order because the university already has cleaned up financial aid irregularities involving players into suspension and checked head football and basketball coaches, Pete Elliott and Harry Combes, from personal recruiting activity for one year.

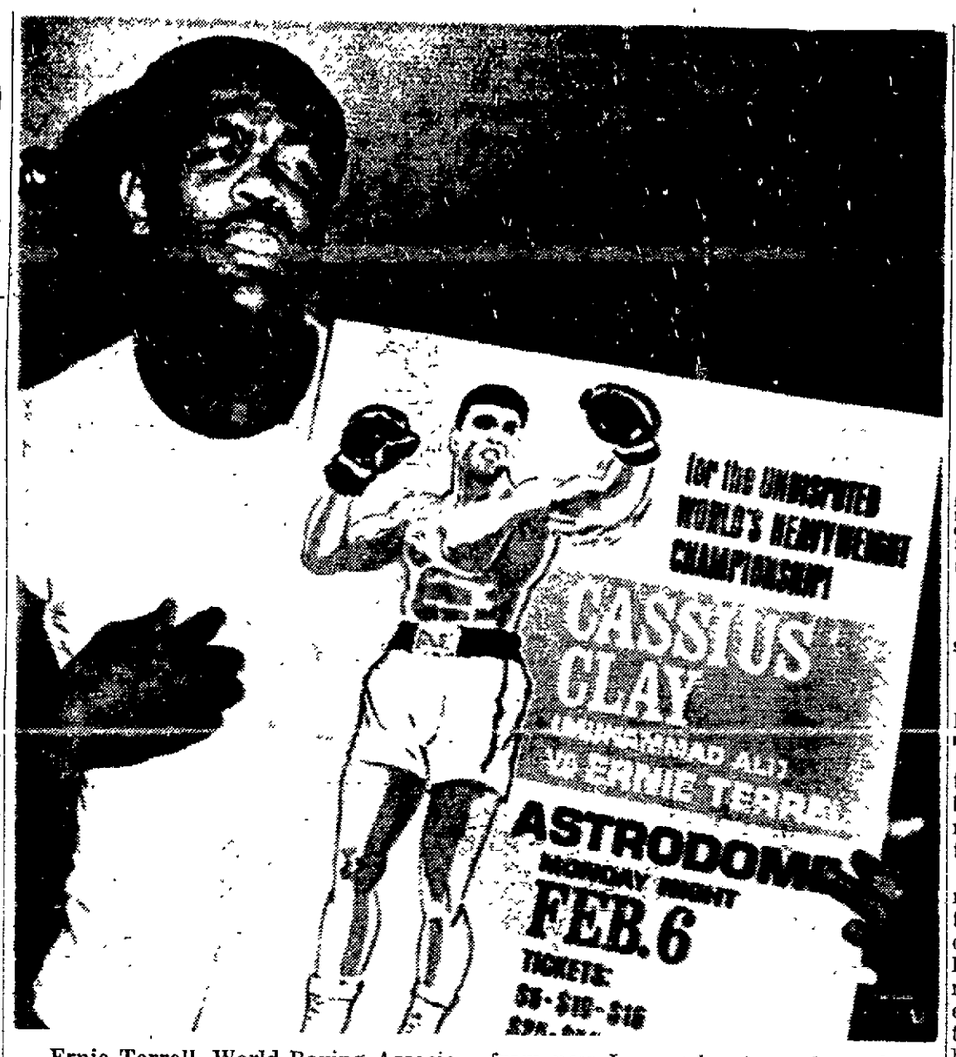

Big Ten action on the matter, which blew open last month as candidates were being lined up to succeed the resigned Doug Mills, still is pending. Commissioner Bill Reed said in Chicago Tuesday that he hopes conference action will come before its business meetings the first week of March in Chicago

The NCAA also must review the case and pass judgment, but Reed said he had no inkling when this will happen. He added that it may come after Vance officially is installed in his new post.

'Bright Future'

"I feel that Illinois athletics have a bright future despite immediate problems ahead; but that future will be within the rules," said Vance. "If Illinois

Sunday's Pro Bowl Contest Being Considered a Toss-Up

East's Offensive Units Will Be Led by Meredith and Ryan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry divided the East into offenses led by Don Meredith and Frank Ryan and Bart Starr and Johnny Unitas were tabbed as West quarterbacks as drills began Monday for the annual Pro Bowl football game.

The outcome of Sunday's battle in the Los Angeles Coliseum is rated a toss-up. The West team has won six of the last nine contests with Unitas directing the attack.

Landry predicted a passing battle. He said his offense will include about 30 basic plays with Meredith, Landry's Dallas Cowboys' playmaker, and Cleveland's Ryan in charge.

In the unit headed by Meredith, Landry placed Ernie Green Cleveland fullback: Leroy Kelly, Browns' halfback: Charley Taylor, Washington flanker, and Jackie Smith, tight end from St. Louis.

Ryan's unit included Johnny Roland, St. Louis halfback: Don Perkins, Dallas fullback: Gary Collins, Cleveland split end, and Bob Hayes, Dallas flanker.

Both Allen and Landry were happy with the players assigned to their squads.

"Usually coaches like to complain a bit," Allen told a luncheon group. "But what can I complain about?"

Prep Matman Dies After Being Injured

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Marion-Franklin High school sophomore, Michael Clark, died late Tuesday about a half hour after being injured in an interscholastic wrestling match.

The death of Clark, 16-year-old son of a Columbus police officer, apparently resulted from the athletic contest but Coroner Robert A. Evans withheld ruling pending an autopsy.

Clark was pitted against David Bryant, 17, in Marion-Franklin's wrestling contest with City League rival North High School, an event supervised by the two schools' coaches and referee.

Police were told that Bryant threw Clark and that as the two fell, the North wrestler's shoulder struck Michael in the stomach, knocking out his wind.

Young Clark was unable to regain his breath. An emergency squad took him to Mercy Hospita, where he died although oxygen was administered.

Lyons' Baseball Career Ends After 44 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — Ted Lyons, 66, retired as a scout for the Chicago White Sox Tuesday.

The move ended a baseball career which started back in 1923 when Lyons left Baylor University to become a pitcher for the White Sox.

Lyons won 260 games for the White Sox while pitching his way into baseball's Hall of Fame.

Although he hurled a no-hitter and three times topped 20 games with a team which spent most of its days deep in the second division, Lyons' most remarkable feat came in 1942.

At the age of 41, Lyons started 20 games, finished them all and posted a 14-6 record. He also led the league with a 2.10 earned run average.

Lyons then enlisted in the Marines and served three years before returning to take over as the team's manager.

Competing at Appleton will be Brillion, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Manitowoc, Mishicot, Stockbridge, Two Rivers, Valders, Wrightstown and host AHS.

Assigned to Manawa's regional are Menasha, Neenah, New London, Hortonville, Marion, Weyauwega, Iola-Scandinavia, Wittenberg and host Manawa. Among the 10 schools wrestling at Seymour will be Freedom, Denmark and host Seymour. Among the nine schools in the Coleman meet will be Bonduel, of the Fox Cities area.

Winneconne, Oshkosh and Omro will compete in the Westfield regional Feb. 10-11. Qualifiers will advance to the Baraboo sectional.

Amherst will compete in the Stevens Point regional, which will funnel qualifiers into the Schofield sectional.

76ers Boost Mark to 42-4

Record 35th Win In Row at Home; Celtics Tip Bulls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Talk all you want about Super Bowls, but for the Philadelphia 76ers, it's Super Season in the National Basketball Association.

What else can you call it when a team has won 42 games and lost only four, and shows no signs of letting up.

The monotony of victory continued Tuesday night as the 76ers handled the New York Knicks 119-111 for their 35th straight triumph in Philadelphia. They haven't lost there since last January.

The Boston Celtics, having only a great season, tripped the Chicago Bulls 109-101 in Chicago, but remained 9½ games behind the 76ers in the Eastern Division.

Cut The Deficit

Philadelphia, well on its way to cracking the Celtics' record of 62 victories in a season, hit 10 of its first 12 shots and led by 23 in the second period before the Knicks cut the deficit to 66-59 at the half. But they never got closer than five after the break.

Wally Jones led the 76ers with 27, Chet Walker added 22, Bill Cunningham 21 and Wilt Chamberlain 19. Walt Bellamy, Dick Barnett and Cazzie Russell each had 18 for the Knicks.

The Celtics, who have won 31 times in 43 games, beat the Bulls for the seventh straight meeting, relying on Bailey Howell's 30 points.

Chicago trailed at the half 53-44 and pulled within four points several times after that, but Larry Siegfried and John Havlicek kept the Celtics ahead. Then Howell hit four straight baskets in the final five minutes to wrap up the victory.

Jerry Sloan had 28 points for the Bulls.

Ruffed Grouse Population Up, Survey Indicates

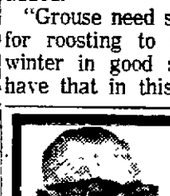

MADISON (AP) — The ruffed grouse population in west central Wisconsin increased during 1966, the Conservation Department noted today.

Surveys showed bird numbers up in the wooded eastern part of Jackson and Juneau counties and in the agricultural sections of Buffalo, Trempealeau and western Jackson counties, Robert Dreis, Black River Falls game management supervisor, said.

"After the relatively low levels of 1965, the 1966 experience shows that one good nesting and hatching season can bounce grouse back up," said Dreis.

The winter outlook is good, he added.

Packers Placed Second by AP

Orioles Voted Top 1966 Team

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, who ran away with the American League baseball pennant and then chased the Los Angeles Dodgers out of the World Series in four games, have been overwhelmingly selected the outstanding sports team of the year for 1966.

The Orioles piled up 918 points as 232 of the voters in a nationwide Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters picked them first. Votes were tabulated on the basis of 3 points for first, 2 for second and 1 for third.

The Green Bay Packers, National Football League champions, were a distant second with 69 first-place votes and 423 points. The voting took place before the Packers beat the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League in the first Super Bowl last Sunday.

Notre Dame's top-ranked college football team was third with 58 top votes and 418 points.

The slugging Orioles, led by Frank Robinson, Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell, won their first pennant since the old St. Louis Browns moved to Baltimore in 1953. By mid-season, the Orioles had piled up a 13-game lead and breezed home.

They capped the season with a four-game sweep of the favored Dodgers in the World Series. Los Angeles' pitching with Sandy Koufax and Co. was supposed to dazzle Baltimore's sluggers, but the Orioles' pitching turned out to be the difference.

Veteran Moe Drabowsky hurled 6 1-3 shutout innings of relief in the first game victory and youngsters Jim Palmer, Wally Bunker and Dave McNally followed with shutouts that broke the record for consecutive shutout innings.

Green Bay, the Western Division champion, won its second straight NFL title by beating the Dallas Cowboys of the Eastern Division, 34-27, behind quarterback Bart Starr, the league's Most Valuable Player. The Packers had won their fifth divisional title in seven years with a 12-2 record, three games better than Baltimore.

Notre Dame, only five points behind the Packers, ranked first most of the season with a host of pro football prospects and their sophomore passing combination of Terry Hanratty and Jim Seymour. Only a 10-10 tie against Michigan State, No. 2, in their classic struggle marred the record of the Irish, who won nine games.

NCAA basketball champion Texas Western, which upset Kentucky in the finals, was fourth, Dallas fifth, Michigan State sixth, the Kansas City Chiefs seventh, the world champion English soccer team eighth, Alabama's undefeated and third-ranked college football team ninth and the NBA champion Boston Celtics 10th.

The three title contenders in the Mid-Eastern Conference will be favored to enrich their records by two victories apiece this weekend.

Front-running Neenah and runnerup Kaukauna will engage the same pair of second-division opponents — Menasha and New London. Third-place Clintonville meets cellar-dwelling Two Rivers Friday night and invades the court of co-fifth-place Kimberly Saturday night.

Six M-E teams are programmed for a double weekend. All units complete their first full rounds of league games Friday and — with the exception of Two Rivers and Shawano — start their second rounds Saturday. The Raiders and the Indians have already played their second-round contest.

Win 8 in Row

Neenah's high-powered Rockets (6-0), shooting for their first M-E cage title in five years, will go into Friday's game with an 8-game winning streak and a 9-1 record, over-all. If the Rockets beat New London, as expected, they'll have victimized each of their conference rivals. The Bulldogs stopped Two Rivers last Friday, for their second league win.

Kaukauna, which has beaten every foe except Neenah, will seek to stay in close contention Friday when it invades Menasha. The Ghosts beat Shawano by an unexpectedly wide margin (67-48) on the Indians' court last weekend.

Although the Bluejays have gained only one M-E win, they've made recent games more than interesting for their foes. In its last two starts — against first-division opposition

Comeback Gives Satisfaction

Bob Long Declares He's Learning About Patience From Pitts

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

Most of the Super Packers, aside from the eight currently exercising with the West Pro Bowl squad in Los Angeles, are content for the moment to revel in last Sunday's history making conquest of the chastened Kansas City Chiefs.

All, perhaps, except Bob Long, the landy greyhound who aspires to be the world's greatest flanker — and has the assets to achieve that lofty eminence.

"I'm eager," the ex-University of Wichita basketball luminary, presently at leisure in his Green Bay apartment, confesses. "I'm looking forward to next year."

"It's been a long season — in fact, it's been an extra long one for me," Long admitted. "As a matter of fact, it's been almost like two seasons — the first one before my knee was operated on, and the second one from that point until now."

"But I'm eagerly looking forward to next year already," he declared with infectious enthusiasm, then explained, "I don't know quite how to put this — I don't want to say this season has been disappointing . . . It isn't disappointing, it couldn't be — it's been a most fantastic year for the team as a whole."

The personable Vandergrift, Pa., native paused, before adding, "I guess what I'm trying to say is that, personally, the season wasn't quite what I expected and hoped it would be. Way back in July, when I came to training camp, I had set my sights high and again, personally, I was real disappointed in what happened. The biggest disappointment was that it went on so long."

Bob had unhappy reference to the knee injury which struck late in July and plagued him until he went under the knife at the end of September.

Elaborating on this point, he noted, "The first two years up here, I learned. Then last year, I started five or six games and had pretty good luck So it looked like this might be a good year for me. And it really did look that way — until I got hurt."

Long, a mercurial citizen who

Nance Lost to AFL 'Star' Unit

Boston Fullback Must Report for National Guard Duty

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The East, which has never won an American Football League All Star Game, must play Saturday's renewal without the conference's record-setting rusher, Jim Nance.

The Boston fullback disclosed Tuesday that a request for a two-day delay had been denied and he must report Friday for six months National Guard duty with his Massachusetts unit.

East Coach Mike Holovak of Boston named Wray Carlton of Buffalo to replace Nance for the Saturday clash at the Oakland Coliseum New York's Matt Snell probably will start, however.

The West also lost a player as workouts started after a one-day delay caused by fog that slowed air travel.

Tight end Fred Arbanas of Kansas City re-injured his separated shoulder in last Sunday's Super Bowl and Jacques McKinnon of San Diego was named to take over his spot.

U. S.-Russian Trade Proposal Facing Battle

Republicans Fear It Will Strengthen Soviet War Machine

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A surprisingly fierce attack on expanded East-West trade by congressional Republican leaders threatens to suffocate a cautious but courageous bipartisan report backing a landmark U.S.-Soviet commercial deal.

That bipartisan effort comes

Novak

from four members of the House Banking Committee — two Republicans and two Democrats — who recently made an investigating trip behind the Iron Curtain. Their target was the proposed $50 million U.S. Export-Import Bank loan for machine tools to be used in a giant new auto plant in the Soviet Union.

These four congressmen unanimously agree on the essential elements of the report now being written that not only does nothing to undermine the machine tool deal but generally supports it. They hoped the report might soften deep-seated congressional resistance to greater East-West trade.

Novak
Laird Joins Attack

That was before Republican leaders opened their barrage against President Johnson's call for trade with the Communists. The preview came when the indoctrination session for freshmen Republican congressmen at nearby Warrenton, Va., included a polemic against East-West trade. Two Republican leaders, Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, stepped up their attack over television last weekend with inflexible hard-line positions. More of the same will be contained in the Republican "State of the Union" message tomorrow night (Thursday, Jan. 19.)

The clearest exposition of the leadership position came in a hard-line speech Monday (Jan. 16) by the articulate Rep. Glen Lipscomb of California, who works in close collaboration with Laird. In generally attacking East-West trade, Lipscomb bludgeoned the proposed machine-tools deal as "a dangerously deceptive travesty on the American public."

So far, this has not dissuaded the two independent-minded Republican congressmen who made the banking committee trip — Michigan's James Harvey and Kansas' Chester Mize — from joining their Democratic colleagues in the coming report.

Evans
Would Block Effort

But the unrestrained attack of the Republican leaders badly undercuts the hoped-for influence of the bipartisan report. Under conditions prevailing on Capitol Hill today, Congress would undoubtedly vote for a rider blocking the Export-Import loan for the machine tools.

Actually, the machine tools deal is far from the full-scale opening of trade behind the Iron Curtain desired by President Johnson. Many of its supporters, including Harvey and Mize, are in general agreement with Republican leaders that today, when Eastern Europe is aiding Communist aggression in Vietnam, is a peculiarly inappropriate moment for dramatic opening of trade channels.

Rather, their support of the deal stems from pragmatic, economic considerations, not from cold war strategy. If the machine tools do not come from the U.S., they will come from Western Europe or Japan. Backing for the deal by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce can be explained partly by the fact that if Americans don't get the Iron Curtain business, their competitors will.

Moreover, the Central Intelligence Agency, in a confidential report made available to the House Banking Committee, predicts that the new plant — which will produce an unprecedented 800,000 Fiat autos a year — will have deep reverberations inside the Soviet economy. By eventually spawning highways, gas stations, tires and other auto accessories, it would compete with war production for priority invade the Soviet economy.

Aids War Machine

Most important, the report will take the position that this first export to Russia of U.S. precision tools cannot help build the Soviet war machine — a finding last fall by both the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the CIA. Contrary to Lipscomb's Monday speech, tools used to build a Fiat cannot be converted to tank production.

At stake here is a conflict between the adamant opposition to all East-West trade traditionally taken by Republicans and a new, more pragmatic view permitting certain limited business-like deals.

Harvey and Mize have some support for their more flexible position, particularly from newly elected Republicans. Some freshmen House members were outspokenly unhappy about the ultra-hard line at Warrenton. One prestigious newcomer, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, last weekend publicly called the President courageous for promoting East-West trade.

But in this, as other matters, they seem to stand little chance of penetrating the granite inflexibility of their party's leadership.

B52 Raid Kills 200 Communists

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A captured Viet Cong major reported that a B52 raid near the "Iron Triangle" killed 200 Communist soldiers and dispersed a regiment of enemy troops, U.S. military headquarters said Tuesday.

A U.S. spokesman said the major was assigned to a rear-echelon service regiment and was taken prisoner after a heavy bomber raid Jan. 8 near Ben Cat, about 25 miles northwest of Saigon.

The spokesmen said the major told his interrogators the Viet Cong regiment — about 1,500 men — dispersed after the raid and the bombing also destroyed 3,000 tons of rice.

Bob Long Calls Comeback Big Satisfaction

ran freely during spot appearances in Super Sunday's spectacular, continued, "I was really down in the dumps for a long time, trying to get that thing worked out."

"One of the biggest satisfactions is that I did come back. I don't know how many there have been, but this has been a season for knee injuries. Johnny Morris of the Bears, who had the same operation a week before I did, didn't play the rest of the year, for example."

"I remember particularly the date of his operation because, shortly after I had mine, I saw a picture in the paper of Morris working out with weights to strengthen his leg. I cut it out and put it up in my locker to remind me to do the same thing."

'Better and Better'

"I saw Morris out in Los Angeles last week," the 24-year-old Pennsylvanian chuckled, "and he told me the Bear coaches and players have been giving him a bad time. He said they told him, 'Bob Long's playing — how come you're not?' "

Bob, who was back on active duty only five weeks after surgery, now is happy to report, "The leg's coming back better and better all the time."

Explaining, "that kind of thing is hard to bounce back from, particularly for a flanker because you have trouble making those sharp cuts. And I started getting a little fluid on the knee, since the operation, because of running on the hard ground in practice here. What saved me was that, when we went out to play Baltimore, we had soft ground to practice and play on. Also Los Angeles for our last regular season game and in Dallas Even in Tulsa, when we worked out for the NFL title game, it was soft and again, of course, this last week in California. So, for the last three or four weeks, the leg has been close to perfect."

Pitts Gives Inspiration

Again reflecting upon his 1966 tribulations, he volunteered, "I think one of the things that keep you going is a guy like Elijah Pitts. He's one of the greatest halfbacks around, and he had to be patient."

Long, a basketball headliner who had played only seven games of collegiate football before being signed to a Packer pact, says with characteristic fervor, "One of the biggest thrills of my life has been to play with this club . . . So many guys have helped me. These injuries get you down mentally, and an awful lot of guys did a lot to help me. They had had injuries before and I hadn't ever had one."

"I also definitely have to give some of the credit to Coach Lombardi. "Admittedly, he's a tough man, but he got on me enough that it made me come back . . . Possibly on a different team or under a different coach, had they used a different psychology, I might not have come back at all this season. The coach and the entire organization make you want to come back."

"As it turned out," Bob laughed, in obvious reference to the $23,500 payoff per player for the winning share of those two title games, "it was a great break for me."

"Long, who recently has been living in Wichita, has decided to go "all the way" and make Green Bay his home. "In fact," he confided. "I think I'm going to buy Bob Skoronski's house — he's moving to Wausau. I'm looking forward to playing on the Packer basketball team the rest of the winter. I don't have anything definite on a job but I'm looking into something right now."

The fleetfooted flanker, who observed "those two championships kind of make up for my not having had the kind of year I hoped to have," reported he had informally predicted the title triumphs.

"Back in training camp, I printed 'World Champions' on the cover of my personal note book — one in which I keep notes on pass patterns we beat defensive backs with and so forth — and it kind of worked out that way."

Vince Made No Halftime Plea, Say Players

never seen any team use that many in a National League game. But in the second half we knew they had to pass and we threw some blitzes at him (quarterback Len Dawson)."

Hart said "there was somebody free all the time for a pass and we even noticed that same thing was true in their game against Buffalo. Only Red Kemp (Buffalo quarterback) couldn't find them."

'Break Even' Club

The consensus was that the Chiefs would be a "break even" club in the National League. Long said, "they would have to alter their thinking in our league."

The Chiefs' most successful pass was the quick slant-in from the right or left side by Otis Taylor or Christ Burford. If anything, the Packers "gave" the Chiefs this type of short gainer, which, Hart said, "had been used a lot by Detroit during the season."

The slant-in was popularized by the Colts in their 1958-59 championship seasons, with John Unitas throwing to Lenny Moore and Raymond Berry.

The three guests were asked what they planned to do with their championship money (over $23,000 for two games) . . . Hart just smiled. Kostelnik said, "The bank is only down the street from where I live." and Long said he's planning to open some pizza huts starting in Oshkosh.

"I might even call them Flakey's Pizza Huts," said the feet end,, who answers to the name Flakey.

LaRusso Says He Won't Report To New Club

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons meet the Philadelphia 76ers here tonight and if that isn't bad enough, the Pistons aren't sure whether they'll have Ray Scott or Rudy LaRusso or neither as a forward.

The Pistons worked a three-cornered swap for LaRusso Monday but LaRusso announced, "After thinking about it all night I decided that for personal reasons I could not join the Detroit team. I am retiring from the NBA."

Pistons' captain Ray Scott was dealt to Baltimore for LaRusso. Baltimore got LaRusso from Los Angeles in a trade for Mel Counts.

But LaRusso balked and apparently the trade is off.

"I wouldn't have my heart in it if I went there," LaRusso explained "It would be an injustice both to the Detroit club and myself for me to report."

LaRusso said there were many factors involved in his decision, chiefly the fact that he would have to leave his family behind for the remainder of the season. His wife is expecting their first child in about two months.

Palmer Tops Casper by 2

Play Exhibition Match; Crosby Tourney Next

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Golf pros Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper warmed up for Thursday's Crosby Invitational Golf Tournament with a rematch, this time for charity, of their 1966 U.S. Open Tournament playoff.

Palmer won 34-36—70 over Casper's par 36-36—72.

Battling some pretty adverse conditions, not on the golf course but on the way there, Casper arrived almost two hours late for their scheduled 12:30 p.m. tee off time Monday.

About 2,200 persons who had paid from $10 to $50 to watch the rematch learned that Casper was stranded by fog in San Diego. About 2:15 p.m. he arrived from San Francisco International Airport, escorted by police.

Finish in 2:15

Casper took a couple practice drives and began the challenge round. The spectators had a hard time following the two pros who blistered through the 18-hole duel in 2 hours, 15 minutes.

The last time these two met face to face was on the Olympic Club Golf Course in June in San Francisco. Casper, with a sizzling final round that overcame a seven-stroke deficit in the last nine holes, had matched Palmer's 2-under-par 278 total.

In the playoff, Casper won the Open by carding a 69 to Palmer's 73.

The proceeds from the exhibition go to the Lighthouse for the Blind.

After the exhibition, both Casper and Palmer left for Monterey, Calif., where the Crosby will be played over three golf courses near the scenic Carmel beach resort area.

Demands Equal Billing or 'Will Go Home'

Clay's Publicity Irks Terrell

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay took a holiday from training today and Ernie Terrell, angry about being second banana on the billboards, talked to promoters of their Feb. 6 heavyweight championship showdown fight about changes he wants in the advertising campaign.

Shortly after Clay carved his 578½-pound 25th birthday cake, a gift from the Astrodome proprietors Tuesday, Terrell was telling a news conference, "Either they give me equal billing or 48 hours from now I am going to pack my bags and go home."

Agreed to Talk

Later, Terrell pushed the starting time for the 48 hours back to this morning and the Houston Sports Association, proprietors of the fight site, the Astrodome, agreed to talk.

Plastered across Houston are 250 billboards giving both fighters' names in the same size lettering, but featuring a drawing of Clay and none of Terrell.

On the side of 150 buses are miniatures of the billboard, and 300 indoor signs have Clay's picture and Clay's name larger by far than Terrell's name.

"This is absolutely and positively ridiculous," Terrell, the World Boxing Association champion, said. "According to this, Clay has the fight already won."

Clay, the consensus heavyweight champion, waited almost 45 minutes after his five-round workout Tuesday for Terrell to arrive at the exhibit hall they share as a gym. When they met Monday, they had scuffled briefly.

At the hall, police were alerted to escort Terrell through a back door, and Clay left after promoters told him Terrell would be late.

Proposal to Ban Tackle-Eligible Play Shelved

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Rules Committee was to vote today on several proposed rules changes, none considered major and a rarity — none dealing with substitutions

The committee, after hearing recommendations from a coaches' subcommittee Monday, decided to table a few of the proposals.

A proposal to prohibit the tackle eligible play was shelved, as were recommendations to move the goal posts and allow players to enter the game without reporting to designated officials.

There will be no action to prohibit the so-called flex-shift, as recommended by the coaches, who maintained it was designed to pull offensive lineman offside.

For only the second time since 1942, there will be no changes in football substitution rules.

The committee concludes its three-day meeting today following a closed session to vote on recommended rules changes.

Tilleman Says He Lost Steaks

GREEN BAY (AP) — Mayor Donald Tilleman says he won a bet when the Green Bay Packers beat the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10 in the Super Bowl at Los Angeles Sunday, but he lost the winning wager on the way back from the West Coast the following day.

Tilleman had wagered a block of Wisconsin cheese against a package of prime Kansas steak bet by Kansas City Mayor Lius W Davis.

Tilleman said he doesn't know what happened to the steaks but confided he had been optimistic enough not to have brought the cheese with him to Los Angeles.

Stocking Plan to be Aired

NHL All-Star Game Slated for Tonight

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League's Board of Governors has stolen the spotlight from tonight's 20th annual All Star Game.

Announcement was expected today of the league's plan for stocking the six new expansion franchises who begin playing next season.

President Clarence Campbell said Tuesday that the board had reached agreement in principle on the stocking plan and that final ratification was expected at today's meeting.

Speculation centered around a proposal which would allow the NHL's six present teams to protect 11 players — six forwards, four defensemen and one goalie — with the expansion teams picking from the remaining personnel.

Back-Up Feature

The stocking plan will also have a back-up feature to reinforce the six new clubs with additional players after their first year.

The six new teams which start play next October are Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, Minneapolis-St. Paul, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Under the NHL's expansion program, each team's owners paid $2 million for 20 players and the franchise.

Campbell also announced Tuesday an increase in bonus cash for participants in the Stanley Cup playoffs. Winners of the semifinal round will get $2,250 per man instead of the previous $1,500. Semifinal losers receive $1,500 each, an increase of $500 per man.

The Stanley Cup final series winners will get $3,000 each and the losers $1,500. Previously the shares were $2,000 each for the Cup winners and $1,000 for the losers.

World Series Record-Holder, Gelbert, Dies

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — Charles Gelbert, an all-star shortstop whose sparkling errorless string in World Series play is a major league record, was buried on Monday in modest ceremonies.

Funeral arrangements will be held at the College Hill Presbyterian Church here for Gelbert who died Friday night in Easton Hospital of an apparent heart attack.

Gelbert, although a pretty good hitter, was remembered mainly for his slick defensive play. He went through 13 World Series games and handled 78 chances without a bobble, a major league baseball record.

Gelbert played most of his career with the St. Louis Cardinals and toward the tail-end was with Cincinnati, Detroit, Washington and the Boston Red Sox.

Appleton Area Farmer Found Dead Near Barn By 14-Year-Old Son

A 47-year-old rural Appleton farmer was found dead by his son just outside his barn about 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said Orvin G. Woldt, route 3, died of an apparent heart attack. The man had a history of heart trouble, Kemps learned.

Woldt was found by his son, Tim, 14, lying about 30 feet from the barn at his farm on County Trunk EE, about seven miles north of Appleton. Woldt had gone out to clean the barn about 3 p.m. He was the father of three children.

The body was released to the Brettschneider-Trettin Funeral

Quarterly Earning Reports Due at Social Security Office

The deadline for filing quarterly reports of earnings for social security purposes is Jan. 31, according to Frank M. Donnick, Appleton Social Security district office manager.

He added that the date is also the deadline for farm operators to report the yearly earnings of their employes.

Donnick said that farm operators are required to file an employe report if he paid him cash wages of $150 or more during the year; or if the employe worked on a time basis on 20 or more days during the year, regardless of the amount of wages he paid the worker. Domestics who work on farms are covered under the same rules as any other farm worker.

Donnick also explained coverage for domestic workers in homes other than farms. The earnings of domestic help should be reported for each employe who was paid $50 or more in the three month period of October through December.

He said the earning reports should be made to the office of Internal Revenue.

CESA 8 Workshop

New Teaching Aids to be Explained

KIMBERLY — The Cooperative Education Service Agency (CESA) 8 will sponsor a workshop for kindergarten and first grade teachers and elementary supervisors and principals at Kimberly High School Saturday, featuring outstanding speakers in the field of education for the younger students.

The workshop is a follow-up on a State Department of Public Instruction workshop held at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, in June at which Miss Carmen Jaeger, Omro, and Miss Suzanne Wydeven, Kimberly, attended as representatives of CESA 8.

The two were recommended by administrators as outstanding kindergarten teachers and are heading up Saturday's workshop in an effort to pass on to others some of the subjects covered in the summer workshop.

Invitations have been sent teachers from Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Kaukauna, Manawa, Freedom, Little Chute, Hortonville, Shiocton and other schools in this area.

Opening speaker will be Dr. Roger Dennis, head of the music department of WSU-O who will explain techniques and helps in teaching music to children in the kindergarten and primary grade levels.

Following coffee and rolls at 10 a.m., Miss Nellie Sparks, WSU-O physical education instructor, will explain things to stress in the physical development of small children, what equipment should be available and how this equipment is to be used.

After adjourning at 11:20 a.m. for lunch at Oakwood Hills Country Club, teachers will reassemble at 12:45 p.m. for a talk by Miss Alice Duren, kindergarten supervisor at Oshkosh, who will explain new methods to teach modern math.

Closing session will be a kaleidoscope on the presentation of units, how to gather information and materials and slides and examples of children's work and fresh ideas to incorporate into the teaching day presented by Mrs. Ruth Hanson, kindergarten teacher at Shorewood Hills, Madison.

LBJ Seeks $73 Billion For Defense Spending

Sees Light Opposition In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Initial reaction to President Johnson's announcement that he will seek a $73 billion defense budget indicates Congress will vote any funds needed to finance the war in Vietnam.

But requests for military spending not related directly to the war could run into tough opposition.

Johnson told a news conference Tuesday night that his requests for defense spending in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 will total $73 billion — an increase of about $5 billion over the current level. He also disclosed he soon will ask Congress for a $9.4 billion supplemental defense appropriation for the current fiscal year.

At the peak of World War II, defense spending totaled about $88 billion a year. The Korean war peak topped $59 billion.

Sees Little Trouble

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., a member of the Armed Services Committee, said in an interview the proposed defense budget "might be scrutinized a little closer than usual but I don't think there will be any trouble getting support for the war."

Stennis singled out military construction projects as an example of spending that might get a closer look.

Another Democratic member of the Armed Services Committee, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, said congressional action on the over-all defense budget will "depend on the justification" the administration presents but added he expects war spending requests to be approved. He noted that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNa-

Response to Traffic Toll

Public Support Needed if '21' Beer Law Is to Pass

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The demand in the comprehensive highway safety program submitted to the Legislature by Gov. Warren P. Knowles Tuesday that will attract most attention and controversy, while it probably has the most dubious prospects of enactment, is that which asks for a uniform minimum age of 21 years for the drinking of beer anywhere in the state.

The governor probably is making a correct assessment when he reports his belief that public opinion is responding slowly to the problem of the rising death toll on public highways.

That increasing public concern probably will bring him some additional support for the 21-age beer rule which was received coldly and rejected decisively on numerous past occasions.

The governor also aptly noted in his message that a "vast majority of the citizens of the state have clearly indicated preference for a minimum age limit established at 21 years." He referred to the fact that the Wisconsin community has endorsed such a principle at least obliquely by keeping in local government officials who have enacted 21 age beer control ordinances. Such local option legislation now governs an estimated 63 per cent of the residents of Wisconsin.

Opposition to such a proposal, however, is experienced, resourceful and determined.

Influential Trades

It combines the influential tavern and beer distribution trades, local officials who insist that compulsory state controls would be a violation of the "home rule" principle, and persons who believe restriction of beer sales smacks of prohibihibitionist sentiment—always unpopular in Wisconsin.

The latter view is reinforced by the record, which shows that the idea of a 21 age beer rule in earlier times was sponsored by "dry" elements, without particular regard to the problem of highway safety. This problem has become more prominent in the dispute in recent times due to nearly universal vehicle driving by youths.

Under Wisconsin law since the repeal of prohibition more than three decades ago, localities have primary rights in liquor and beer regulation. Local governments control licensing, and they have the right to issue licenses or to establish local prohibition through the denial of such permits. State law sets 21 as the minimum age for the consumption of hard liquor and 18 for the consumption of beer in public places.

The fact that some localities, and especially rural towns, have permitted beer bars which sell to patrons 18 years of age and over, has created youth-attracting "beer islands," as the governor described them, which has created a new problem on the highways. According to Knowles, about two-thirds of the state's drivers between 18 to 20 who were involved in fatal accidents during the last year were shown to have an amount of alcohol in their blood to indicate intoxication.

U.S. Pilots Pour Fire Bombs on Red Hideouts

Viet Cong Deaths In 'Iron Triangle' Sweep Hit 495

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — High-flying B52 bombers rained tons of fire bombs on Communist War Zone D today in an attempt to burn Viet Cong hideouts in triple canopy jungles 32 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman who observed the unusual incendiary bomb raid from a helicopter said "it looked just like the Fourth of July."

He said the huge eight-engine Stratoforts, flying out of sight at 30,000 feet, made 10 passes over a 30-square-mile area of the D Zone which the Viet Cong reportedly used for base camps and infiltration routes.

Toll Hits 495

A few miles to the west of the zone, U.S. forces reported killing 20 more Viet Cong in Operation Cedar Falls in the "Iron Triangle" 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon. U.S. troops also uncovered a grave with 19 enemy bodies, and a spokesman placed the Communist death toll at 495

Minus-52 in State

Cold Will Continue

Temperatures plunged to record-setting lows early today as the most severe weather of the winter moved into Wisconsin and the Fox Valley area.

Making the biting cold harder to take is the weather forecast which promises no respite. The forecast is for fair and continued very cold tonight in the Valley with a low near 15 below.

Readings of 20 below were common throughout the state Tuesday night with an unofficial low of 52 below at Phillips and an official low of 46 below in Neillsville.

The low temperature reported in the Fox Valley area was 30 below in Waupaca. Other readings were 22 below in Appleton, 21 below in Green Bay, 27 below in Neenah-Menasha, 28 below in New London, 24 below in Seymour and 22 below in Chilton.

At least three Wisconsin persons suffered fatal heart attacks Tuesday while working in snow and freezing temperatures.

One of the weather victims was a Valley area resident—Elmer G. Diedrich, 57, of route 2, Hibert. He died about 4 p.m., Tuesday, shortly after he finished shoveling snow at the home of his son, Donald Diedrich, of route 1, Hilbert. According to Calumet County Coronor Leroy Hughes, Diedrich had a past history of coronary illness.

Other Victims

Other heart attack victims were George Bergeren, 68, of rural Bloomer, who collapsed and died while shoveling snow on his farm, and Gerald Peterson, 25, rural Rio, who died after helping to push his car out of a snowbank in Columbia County.

Records at Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. in Appleton show that today was the coldest Jan 18 on record. Today's 22 below compares with the previous record of 18 below which was set in 1930. The lowest January temperature in the power company's records was 30 below, on Jan 30, 1951. The all-time low of minus 32 occurred on Feb. 20, 1929.

Late for Jobs

With the low temperatures came the usual rash of stalled automobiles and people late for their jobs because they needed other means of transportation. The American Automobile Association office in Appleton reported it was deluged with calls this morning from persons with dead batteries and stalled cars.

Appleton Director of Public Works Frank Keuler showed the city government "has a heart." Rather than sending garbage and rubbish pickup crews out into the bitter cold, Keuler pointed out that today "was an ideal day to do indoctrination and instruction work for our public works employes" at the new (heated) city garage.

For people who care about such things, the Wisconsin branch of the U.S. Weather Bureau came out today with its "Wisconsin Snow and Frost Depth Report."

Marathon, Langlade, Lincoln, Clark and Wood counties, the weather bureau says, have the deepest frost penetration in the state. The depth in this region ranges from 33 inches in Antigo to 40 inches at Spencer.

10-Inch Average

The Fox Valley region, which has a snow cover averaging about 10 inches, has a frost penetration ranging from seven to 12 inches.

Wisconsin roads in the northern half of the state still had scattered slippery spots today in sheltered areas. Roads in the southern half of the state generally were clear and dry.

Despite the temperatures, The Post - Crescent received no reports of closed schools and only scattered incidents when school buses were late making their rounds.

Prank Goes With Pair on Honeymoon

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A newly married couple was stopped by a highway patrolman Tuesday and the nervous driver ordered out with his hands in the air.

The Illinois motorist was quizzed about his marital status while his nearly hysterical bride kept shouting, "What's wrong?"

After determining the man was telling the truth, trooper Jerry Matheson explained that a station attendant had found a note on their car's gasoline tank reading: "I am being held hostage and forced to pose as a wife. Please call police."

The bride looked at the note and said it was the work of a prankster.

Officers did not get the couple's name.

Visit to Australia

Hecklers Greet Premier Ky

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — With miniskirted demonstrators chanting "one-two-three, go home, Ky," South Vietnam's premier charmed his way into Australia's capital today and pacified a news conference of tough and at times hostile questioners.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and his wife arrived in Canberra for a nine-day visit to Australia and New Zealand during which members of the opposition Labor Party have pledged to stage demonstrations against the war and his visit.

Fielding every question at the news conference with smiling urbanity, Ky:

1. Insisted that his visit was not to bolster his regime but to thank the people of Australia for their sacrifices in behalf of his country.

Not in Algerian War

2. Denied that Adolf Hitler was his hero, that he had ever fought for the Vichy regime in France—"I was only 12 years old"— or that he had ever taken part in the Algerian war for France.

3. Reaffirmed his intention to visit the United States after the Constituent Assembly finishes writing a constitution for South Vietnam. He said the trip would probably be at the end of this year.

4. Said he has no objection to the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front participating in negotiations to end the Vietnamese war "so long as they are part of the Hanoi delegation."

Some 700 trade unionists and students turned out to protest Ky's visit with placards denouncing him as a fascist, a killer and "baby burner."

"Waterside workers say keep killer Ky out," read a typical placard waved by the demonstrators.

Police Stand Guard

Some of the demonstrators tried to bait the hundreds of extra police called on duty by waving Viet Cong flags in their faces, but the tough Aussie cops stood their ground. There were no incidents

Accompanied by his beautiful wife, Tuyet Mai, the premier was whisked about the city at such speed that he was barely cognizant of any public opposition.

By Saigon standards, the demonstrations were mild and orderly. Many of the anti-Ky forces wore the international uniform of protest—beards, sandals, blue jeans and sweat shirts. Standing under the eucalyptus trees waving their banners of protest and chanting, they might have been transplanted en masse to the Berkeley campus in California without changing their lines or their garb.

Along with the demonstrators, a few thousand curious turned up along the motorcade route probably expecting to see the flamboyant premier in his customary black flight suit and lavender neck scarf. Instead they saw a smiling mustachioed young man in a conservative brown silk business suit and gold and black striped tie.

Two Men Killed In Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of two men in separate Milwaukee accidents raised the Wisconsin traffic toll for the year to 38 today, compared with 40 on this date a year ago.

Kenneth Mundstock, 33, of New Berlin, was injured fatally early today when his sports car was involved in a rear end collision involving two other cars on the Milwaukee County Freeway near the Stadium Interchange.

John Daniel, 34, of suburban St Francis was killed Tuesday night when the car in which he was riding left the street and struck a utility pole on Milwaukee's south side.

Meanwhile, a man previously listed as a traffic victim was removed from the list of highway dead. He was Wendell Moos of Onalaska, 72, the driver of one of two trucks which collided Monday near Onalaska. Dr. James Murphy, La Crosse County coroner, said Tuesday that Moos suffered a fatal heart attack before the trucks collided.

Astronaut Lovell Visits Wisconsin

Says Flights Go Well With State's Motto

MADISON (AP) — Astronaut James Lovell, braving the coldest day of the winter for a warm homecoming to Wisconsin, suggested today that the state's motto, "Forward," be affixed to America's thrust into space.

Lovell, greeted by a standing ovation from the 1967 Legislature, said the knowledge gained in space explorations offered "a vital resource of tremendous wealth."

The Gemini pilot said, "The space program is not just an investment in hardware, it is an investment in people. It is not an investment made on some distant planet, but an investment right here on Earth."

The speech before a joint session of the Senate and Assembly began a day-long agenda which also called for a Capitol news conference, a noon speech before a University of Wisconsin civic luncheon and talks with technical experts at a space sciences symposium on the campus.

The Milwaukee astronaut flew into Madison without fanfare Tuesday night as temperatures dipped toward 20 degrees below zero

"Stepping out of that airplane last night was about as cold it was when we opened up that hatch," said Lovell, twice conqueror of the frozen waste of space where the cold reaches minus 250.

No 'Hot Suspect' After 5 Months

Search Continues for Slayer of Valerie Percy

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — The chief of police, a courteous, soft-spoken man, fingered his bow tie and considered the question. "We don't," he said, "have what we could call a real hot suspect."

That is the status of the search for the murderer of 21-year-old Valerie Percy, five months after the fact.

"There are more than 1,000 items of physical evidence in this case," said Police Chief Robert Daley in an interview. "There are some items we regard as clues. But there is nothing we think of as a real good lead."

Few Changes

Snow splotches the two acres of lawn around the $200,000 mansion where a killer bludgeoned and knifed to death Valerie Percy last Sept. 18.

There are no other surface changes at the home of Valerie's father, millionaire Charles H. Percy, now a U.S. senator, or in Kenilworth, a Chicago enclave for the very rich on the shore of Lake Michigan.

Occasionally, Chief Daley, commuting 55 miles each morning to his job, drives past the 17-room limestone mansion, set off from the main road by its private drive. Trees and hedges form a covering maze for the house, named Windward.

For Daley and for his 14-man force there is another kind of maze involving Windward— one formed by the massive file of information on the unsolved slaying of Valerie Percy.

On Sept. 17, Daley, a 34-year veteran of the force, seven years its chief, was planning retirement, approved by the Village Board for Nov. 1.

Heads Investigation

But in the murky dawn of the following Sunday morning, an intruder cut his way through a patio door of Windward, crept upstairs and killed the blue-eyed, 5-foot-6 Valerie, whose father then was the Republican candidate for the Senate.

Daley went ahead and bought a retirement home in Racine, Wis., his wife's hometown. But he promised the village he would continue to head the murder investigation that encompasses a file of more than 1,000 leads.

"We have questioned more than 2,500 persons," Daley said. "We have chased down leads in more than 25 states and several foreign countries.

"The FBI contacted people in Canada, Puerto Rico, France and England. We are checking them all. And another thing, one lead always leads to another.

"Our people — 14 men, plus myself — work regular hours. But if a lead turns up, we work on it past midnight."

Daley, 58, speaks softly, prefacing each statement with "sir." He has a batch of unruly pepper-gray hair and favors bow ties and tweed sports coats.

Fourteen persons have been given lie-detector tests; each has been absolved.

1,000 Items

There are 1,020 leads in the file labeled "Percy investigation." Some 300 of them have been separated into an inactive file. The names of about 100 persons are kept in the active file of suspects.

The more than 1,000 items of physical evidence include the slain girl's blood-stained nightgown, a man's glove found in a shallow ravine near the mansion, a bayonet salvaged from Lake Michigan by scuba divers and two well-defined palm prints from the circular stairway the killer climbed en route to his victim.

The palm prints are of use only in checking against those of a suspect. No connection has been disclosed between the bayonet and the murder weapon. Chemical tests failed to establish whether woolen fibers found on the victim's bed matched those of the glove.

More than 300 fingerprints taken from friends of the Percy family have been checked out by the FBI. At the time of the slaying, Daley said it appeared the killer was familiar with the Percy mansion. The family was questioned extensively by Daley and a list of their friends was compiled.

At an October inquest, Mrs. Percy told a coroner's jury of Valerie's slaying: "I'm convinced it was nothing she provoked."

The victim's father declared: "She was the embodiment of freshness and sweetness. I really can't imagine her having an enemy.

In November Percy was elected to the Senate by Illinois voters.

A month later, Valerie's twin, Sharon, became engaged to John D. Rockefeller IV.

But for Chief Daley, the five months since the slaying have provided no highlights, few diversions. His retirement is still in the future.

Chilton and Hilbert Volunteer Fire Departments fought a losing battle for more than three hours about midday Tuesday as a warehouse owned by Lloyd Loewe and the building's contents were totally destroyed by fire. Loewe said the fire may have started near an oil burner in the building. Electrical wiring was listed by firemen as a possible cause for the blaze. Approximately $65,000 damage was done in the worst fire in Hilbert in recent history. Sub-zero temperatures and high winds buffeted firemen and further hampered their efforts. (Post-Crescent Photo)

New London Council Votes To Form Housing Authority

Resolution Adopted After State Representative Outlines Program Emphasizing Needs of Elderly

NEW LONDON — A resolution authorizing the formation of a local housing authority was adopted Monday by the city council.

Action was taken after a talk by George Hibner, representative of the Wisconsin Commission on Aging. Hibner outlined the housing authority program, and the low rent housing program for elderly persons.

"Senior citizens are not a minority group," Hibner said. "There were 16.8 million people over 65 years old in 1960, according to U.S. census figures, and there are an estimated 18 million people over that age at present. Projected figures estimate more than 25 million people being classed as senior citizens by 1985."

Hibner said about $35 million in low rent senior housing projects had been approved since 1965 and that $35 million more is being considered. He said 166 communities in the state are currently involved with local housing authorities.

Rank 16th

Wisconsin had 403,000 people over 65 in 1960 and an estimated 439,000 in 1965, Hibner said. "We are talking about 10.6 per cent of the state's population. Wisconsin ranks 16th in the nation for percentage of elderly," Hibner said.

New London's population of elderly citizens increased from 431 persons in 1940 to 739 in 1960, he said.

This area has a good deal of agricultural trade, and statistics show little migration of elderly from these areas at retirement, Hibner said.

Hibner said a local housing authority has to be created by an incorporated city or village. The authority consists of five commissioners, named by the mayor and approved by the city council.

Duty of the authority is to survey the community and determine the need factor of its elderly citizens. A resolution is then adopted by the authority and must be passed by the council to become eligible for federal assistance, Hibner said.

Decisions Local

Decisions on construction, and the types of developments, are made by the local authority. Construction is financed by the federal government, which is reimbursed for its investment by the sale of 40-year ammortization, low interest, 3 per cent, bonds. The federal government guarantees the bonds and must make good, if the local authority does not carry out its program, Hibner said.

Low income housing is operated as a non-profit business, he said.

The maximum income an elderly person may receive and still be eligible is determined by the local authority, except that a determination may be made by state or federal authorities if the maximum is excessive, Hibner said

"Only one of 42 applications acted on so far has been turned down. This was because the area had an inadequate number of elderly people, and lacked medical and dental facilities," he said.

Mayor Harry S. Emans said he would begin to form a committee with nominations to be presented for council approval as soon as possible so plans could be made for the authority commission. He expressed hope action could be taken quickly once the committee is formed.

Chilton Forms Plan For Snow Removal

Crews Work Same Location To Establish Timetables

CHILTON — A snow removal schedule is being prepared by the public works department in an effort to remedy complaints that streets were not cleared soon enough after a storm.

Walter Muehl, public works director, made an announcement to the council Tuesday evening. He said his five-man crew has been assigned the same location after each snowfall in an effort to establish a timetable. Muehl said he felt city streets were cleared as soon, if not sooner, than other area cities.

clear a half mile of sidewalks, 120 crosswalks, 110 fire hydrants, 14 miles of streets, has snow to haul and skating rinks to maintain.

The council approved the purchase of a 1967 Rambler Ambassador to serve as the city squad car.

The approved bid of $2,293 made by the Central Garage, Potter, was one of four bids submitted.

Further action was approval of $39,000 partial payment of school taxes. This represents 67 per cent of total taxes collected to date.

Three bids were received for the 1930 model fire truck owned by the city. It was decided to reject all bids and to readvertise with bids due at 8 p.m., April 5.

It was decided to retain the State Bank as city depository to avoid complicated bookkeeping changes, and the cost of having new checks printed. The Commercial Bank had requested that they be considered for city banking purposes in 1967.

Salaries Approved

Salaries for city officials were approved. These include mayor, $700; city clerk, $6,300; deputy clerk, $3,780; assessor and treasurer, $1,600; fire chief, $900; city attorney, $1,500; public works director, $8,000; custodian, $250 per month plus living quarters, police chief, $6,300; patrolman first class, $490 per month and patrolman second class, $450 per month; street department foreman, $5,400; water plant operator, $475 per month, and sewer plant operator, $450 per month.

The report of health officer, Mrs. E. T. Rathert, showed certificates prepared in 1966 as totaling 434 births; 132 deaths; 27 marriages; 80 burial certificates, and 52 morbidity reports. She submitted a total of $627 in bills for the year.

Public works director Muehl reported the city will call for bids on street work due Feb. 21. This work will include School and Washington streets which totals 3,200 feet of curb and gutter; 2,200 square feet of sidewalks; 1,900 square feet of driveways; 6,500 square yards of blacktopping and 50 cubic yards of excavation. The curb and gutter will be a separate bid. Muehl said once the resurfacing work is complete the streets should be good for about twenty years.

Police chief, Daniel Albedyll, submitted his annual report.

Hands, Pumps Freeze

Firemen Battle Fierce Heat, Intense Cold in Hilbert Blaze

BY DAVE GIFFEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

HILBERT — Firemen fought flames and frostbite for more than three hours Tuesday but their success in both battles was limited as a $65,000 warehouse and contents were destroyed and several firemen sustained minor frost injuries.

The warehouse, owned by Lloyd Loewe, housed furniture, cheese, ice cream making equipment and an office. Most of the contents were destroyed.

Chilton and Hilbert Volunteer Fire Departments were called to the warehouse on Hilbert's south side after a passerby turned in the alarm about 10:30 a.m.

Two snowplows which happened to be near the scene, immediately cleared a path for fire fighting equipment. As the fire spread through the 10,000 square foot building, smoke poured across State 57, completely blocking visibility.

Traffic Resumes

Police stopped traffic on the highway until 3:30 p.m. when smoke cleared to allow traffic to continue.

Hilbert Fire Chief Ernest Pitzen said Tuesday's was the most destructive fire in Hilbert since he became fire chief in 1950.

The building was rented from Loewe by two Hilbert firms. The Kopitzke Furniture Co. recently moved approximately $20,000 worth of new furniture into the warehouse, according to company spokesmen. The furniture was destroyed, reports said.

Company officials said none of the furniture was covered by insurance.

A $5,000 loss was reported by Henry Belzer, Appleton, owner of the Hilbert Cheese Co. The firm's office was located in the south side of the building.

As the blaze burned out of control, firemen were forced to work in shifts to ward off severe cold weather injuries. A nearby service station became a resting place for the volunteers.

Despite hot coffee and frequent breaks from the six degree below zero temperature, several firemen reportedly received frostbitten ears and hands.

Extreme cold further hampered their efforts when a pump on one of the Chilton fire trucks froze on the way from Chilton to Hilbert.

The Chilton firemen left Hilbert at about 2:30 p.m. Hilbert firemen remained at the scene until later in the afternoon but the fire was nearly burned out by 4 p.m.

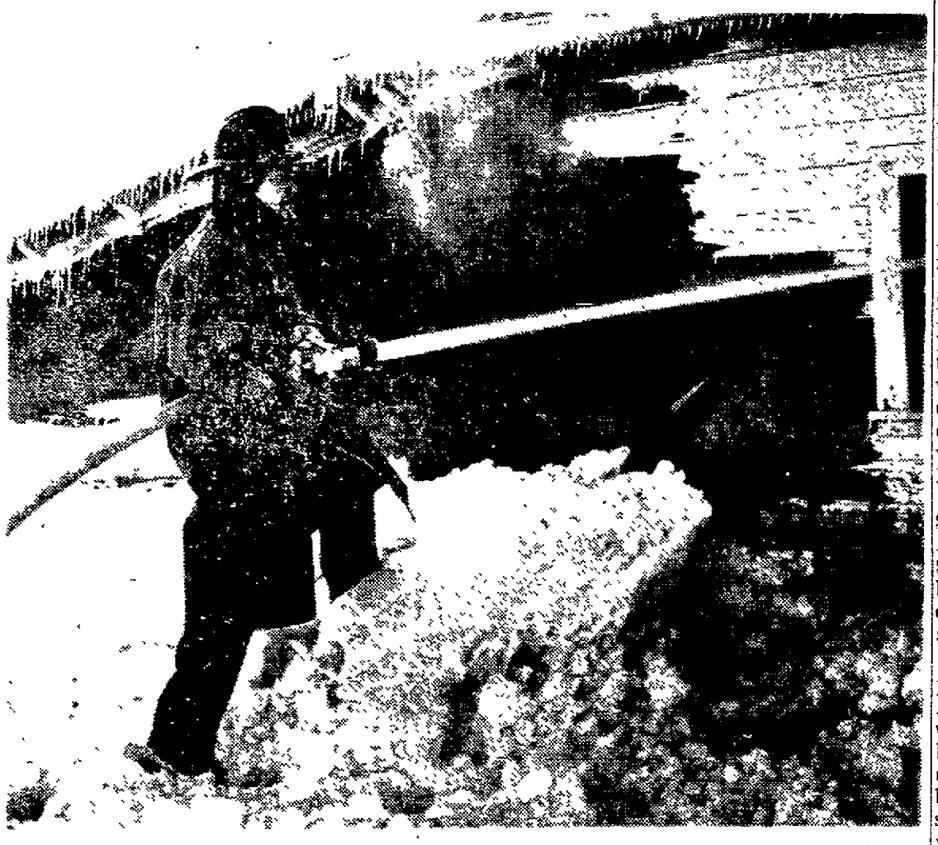

The building originally housed a poultry processing plant. The older part of the structure was wood frame. A new concrete block addition was built seven years ago, Loewe said.

Truck's Radiator Freezes on Way to New London Fire

NEW LONDON — A chimney fire in the Town of Lebanon Tuesday afternoon required two New London fire trucks, when the first truck's radiator froze en route to the scene.

The call was received at 2:40 p.m. from Mrs. Victor Gitter, route 3, who reported smoke in the attic of the rural home.

A truck was dispatched to the fire, but radioed in shortly after leaving that the radiator had apparently frozen. The second truck was sent and reported only a routine chimney fire.

John Hennessy President of Northern Bank

New Director Is Named to Succeed Gus A. Zuehlke

The board of directors of Northern State Bank elected John A. Hennessy president of the bank at its annual meeting Monday. Hennessy, who also was named a director of the bank, succeeds Gus A. Zuelhke as president.

In other action, the board promoted Millie Olsen to operations officer. She had been an assistant cashier, a position that has been dissolved. Nymoen, cashier.

Northern State Bank added $1.5 million in deposits in 1966. All deposits now total more than $5.6 million for the four-year-old bank. Hennessy has been the executive officer of the bank since January of 1964.

The board also announced plans for expansion of the bank. About 3,000 square feet of space will be added soon. Ground breaking is expected as soon as existing plans are approved and bids are let. Two new teller stations and two more drive-up windows are included in the expansion program.

Directors of Northern State Bank are Herbert C. Crane, F. C. Jesse, Willard C. Johnson, Gilbert J. Relien, Gus A. Zuehlke and Hennessy.

Smoke From Fire Kills 30 Pigs at Bear Creek

2 Volunteer Departments Make Double Runs To Contain Blaze 20 Feet From House, Barn

BEAR CREEK — Smoke from a fire at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday on the Gerard Mares farm, two miles north of Bear Creek on County Trunk B, suffocated about 30 small pigs that were housed in a pig barn.

Both the Bear Creek and Clintonville fire departments fought the fire for two hours, in high winds and at a temperature at 20 below zero. Thirteen brood sows and several small pigs were saved. The 7-week-old small pigs weighed about 35 pounds each.

Mares had left the barn for the house 10 minutes before Mrs. Mares smelled smoke, and then saw the fire from the kitchen window.

A half hour after the fire departments left, the fire blazed again, and both departments were called back. The Clintonville department stayed only a short time, but the Bear Creek volunteers stayed at the farm for two more hours.

The surviving animals were moved to the dairy barn, and were taken today to Mares' father's farm, about three-quarters of a mile west of the Mares farm.

The inside of the pig building, situated only 20 feet from the farm house and dairy barn, was gutted. Firemen are investigating today to determine if the blaze was started by an oil heater, or by electric wires above the heater.

ID Card Would Help Steiger in Congress

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Newly elected Rep. William A. Steiger of the 6th Wisconsin Congressional District wishes the House of Representatives would issue him an I.D. card. It would make life on Capitol Hill much simpler.

It seems that the slender, 28-year-old "freshman" congressman from Oshkosh is having his difficulties being admitted to the floor of the House.

"One of the pages stopped me from going through the door to the House chamber during the first day of the session," he explained. "The page said apologetically only congressmen were allowed inside."

Steiger then allowed as how he WAS a congressman, but the page remained adamant. Having no form of identification on him — "after all, I couldn't carry my certificate of election with me" — Steiger thought for a while he might miss the roll-call vote electing the Speaker.

Finally, another member of Congress identified him.

Much embarrassed, the page tried to explain that there weren't many members who looked so young as Steiger . . . Bill Steiger good-naturedly grinned and assured the red-faced page that no offense was taken and then hastily retreated to take his seat in the House of Representatives.

Winter Festival

Ice Sports Planned at Iola

IOLA — Sponsoring organizations of the Iola Winter Carnival have been busy lining up events for Feb. 18 and 19 when all attention will be focused on outdoor activities.

Added feature for the annual event will be a quilt sale sponsored by the Iola-Scandinavia High School chapter of the Future Homemakers of America. At a recent quilting bee the girls tacked the pieces together and the quilt is ready for display in a business place at Iola and Scandinavia. Money raised by the sale will be used to finance delegates to the FHA Camp at Green Lake this summer.

According to Howard Bestul, general chairman, other events are in the final stages of planning.

Festivities will start Feb. 18 with stock car racing on ice at Lake Iola. Trial runs will be at 11 a.m. with racing at 1 p.m. The event is approved by the newly-organized Central Wisconsin Ice Racing Association with Gifford Solem as chairman.

Saturday afternoon events will also include snowmobile rides on Lake Iola.

The traditional old time Norwegian supper will be served in the Iola-Scandinavia High School multi-purpose room. Serving will start at 3 p.m. and continue until all are served. Featured on the menu are lutefisk, lefse, meatballs and Norwegian delicacies. General chairman of the supper is Mrs. Dale Nelson with Mrs. Robert Crase as co-chairman.

Saturday evening's dance at the high school gym will feature the music of Tony Goez. Climaxing the evening will be crowning ceremonies when the new queen will officially receive her crown to reign for one year over Iola activities. Candidates for the queen are Chris Hotvedt, Joni Budsberg, Peg Weisbrod, Betsy Finch and Sue Poppy, high school seniors. Roger Peterson is handling the coronation dance arrangements.

Sunday's big event will be the ninth annual senior ski tournament at the Iola Winter Sports Club grounds, five miles northwest of Iola on County MM. Midwest seniors will be competing for honors.

State Gives Tentative Okay for New London Sewage Plant Addition

Final Okay Held Up Because of Need for Chlorination System

NEW LONDON — Plans for the sewage treatment plant addition have been given tentative approval by the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development.

Revised plans by Donohue and Associates, Sheboygan, city consulting engineers, were approved, but a chlorination facility will have to be added.

Donohue representatives said the chlorination system would help control odors, but would add to the estimated cost. No figure was given.

Revisions previously suggested by the resource department were adding 18 inches to the depth of the treatment tank and installing a large blower system. The addition will be the activated sludge type. The revisions will add about $10,000 to the cost, part of which will be paid through federal aid.

Total cost of the addition has risen to an undetermined figure, but probably exceeds $150,000. Original estimates were for $120,000.

Notification was received that approval had been given for partial payment of the city's federal aid allottment for the addition.

Bill Questioned

Ald. Jerome Zaug (1st), finance committee chairman, raised questions over presentation of bills which were not reviewed by his committee or the council. Questioned were bills of the police and fire commission, relief department, and various bills included in financial reports which do not undergo audit by the council of the whole meeting on Mondays.

Mayor Harry S. Emans said if bills in the financial report aren't reviewed Mondays, what is the use of holding the meeting.

It was pointed out that the police and fire commission had the authority to purchase, audit and pay bills and the relief department could not itemize bills for public record.

S. W. Krostue, city attorney, said the council couldn't discuss relief bills on the council floor, but could give a total figure of the amount of all bills.

Sign Replacement

Replacing "yield" signs with stop signs were approved for Oshkosh Street at Jennings Street; Oshkosh Street at Beacon Avenue; Millard Street at Oshkosh Street, and Werner-Allen Road at Washington Street.

New stop signs were approved for Buck Street at Oshkosh Street; Cook Street at Oshkosh Street; Spring Street at Oshkosh Street; Law Street at Oshkosh Street, and at the senior high school entrances.

Purchase of a dump truck from Kawell Motors at a net price of $3,725 and a pick-up truck from Volz, Inc., for $1,672 net price was approved. Both bids included the trade of older vehicles.

An ordinance on snow and ice removal procedures was presented and will be acted on at the Feb. 7 council meeting.

New London Asks Study of City Hall Needs

Mayor Emans Cites Crowded Offices, Cost of Repairs

NEW LONDON — The city hall, an ediface which has served the community for more than 70 years, will be the subject of a study by the public property committee.

Mayor Harry S. Emans said, "I think that a complete study should be made in regard to remodeling the city hall. Everyone is aware of the fact that all departments are crowded and that every year there are expenditures to maintain the building to make present offices comfortable and workable."

Repairs Major

"The time is coming, and may be here, when major repairs will be necessary," Emans said. "I would like the council to authorize the public property committee to have a study made in regard to a complete remodeling of the present building as to cost and the efficiency we might expect."

"First, I would suggest the public property committee get cost estimates as to the study and report to the council," Emans said.

"Personally, I have no opinion in regard to a new city hall, as there are many projects which are vital. I also think that the taxpayers are entitled to this information as long as the city hall project is coming to light ever so often," he added.

Approval Unanimous

The council unanimously approved Emans' recommendation.

The mayor's address was timely, as the council later in the meeting authorized the public property committee to proceed with converting one boiler to natural gas operation.

Ald. Matt Burton (5th), public property chairman, said the heating system has been causing problems recently. The city hall is heated with a steam boiler fueled with coal.

Projects for improving various departments, the entire building and its various systems have been increasing each year.

No large sum of money is spent at one time, or on one project, but totally they amount to a good sum of money, it was pointed out.

Annual Sales Conference

Outlook for Economy Good, Says AAL Head

Walter L. Rugland, president of Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) told 75 general agents during their annual sales conference last week that every barometer indicates the economy should continue strong during 1967.

Rugland called the market for life insurance sales "terrific" and said it was conceivable AAL would reach $4 billion in force by the end of the year or shortly thereafter.

While obviously pleased with the 1966 sales results, he warned that competition for sales manpower of high quality is very intense.

There is no lack of market, he said. Young persons between 20 and 30 years of age who buy a third of all ordinary life insurance issued now number 25 or 26 million and will total 37 million by 1975. "In addition, future changes in other segments of the population and the unmet needs of today's families mean that sales potential in the years ahead is terrific," he said. "But sales potential does not necessarily lead to sales dollars."

Rugland cited two studies made by life insurance industry executives which considered the problems in recruiting, training, retraining and motivating life insurance salesmen. The studies pointed to a need for better selection methods, improved training and supervision programs, new patterns for compensating agents early in their careers, and development of field management.

"Perhaps we are not making the right efforts toward integrating the goals and objectives of our sales people with the real objectives of AAL," Rugland suggested. "We certainly make every effort to keep a good balance in meeting the maintenance needs of every individual associated with us. I am convinced that it is the extent to which each individual's motivational needs are being satisfied that determines the stability and effectiveness of our staffs — both at the home office and in the field."

Breakfast Optimist Club

County Officer Outlines Strategy For Appleton's Pornography War

The undeclared war against pornography and the limitations of statutes in controlling its distribution, were presented to the Breakfast Optimist Club this morning by the assistant district attorney for Outagamie County.

Richard Hamilton told the group the "hard core smut" was easily recognized and consequently controlled. He said the borderline material was the plague of law enforcement agencies.

Material considered lewd and obscene 30 years ago is accepted today, he said.

Court Decides

The first important decision handed down by the Supreme Court on obscenity was in 1934, according to Hamilton. However, the Roth decision of 1957 was the one used by artists and authors for a basis in determining obscenity. The decision dwelt with the constitution's first amendment, which allows freedom of the press and public speech.

Due to the Roth decision, it has become necessary to judge material on the basis of the average person, contemporary community standards and the material as a whole. Hamilton said it is unfair to judge any works on the sentiment of any particular portion of the population. It must be judged on its effect on the entire population.

If the plot of any questionable material has a moral aspect, regardless of the obscene passages, it could never be taken into court with any hopes of winning the decision, he indicated. "Unfortunately there is nothing law enforcement people can do about it," he said.

Ban Art

It is impossible to set up definite lines on what is obscene, Hamilton said. If this were done, many passages in the great works of art would have to be banned.

"The big problem is the middle ground material. More and more material is getting in as standards change," he said.

Many distributors want to be brought into court. He said they have batteries of attorneys waiting to test the cases which will give the questionable material untold free publicity. He said the courts could seek injunctions against individual books rather than the dealer, but once again it gives free publicity and if the decision is lost, the book has an added appeal to the reader.

Hamilton said the middle ground material should be self-censored. "A strong moral society has little to fear. Citizens must assume responsibility by encouraging people not to buy the questionable material. Children brought up with the proper foundation have nothing to worry about."

Appleton has borderline trash and the "greatest protection must come from the individual," he said.

Parcel Post Rate Hike Takes Effect

Zones Correlated With Use Of Zip Code to Speed Service

Use of ZIP Code now will make it easier to mail packages, Asst. Postmaster R. W. Haase of Appleton said today.

New rates and a new system for identifying parcel post zones went into effect today as provided in new legislation.

The rate increases will average about 10 cents a parcel, Haase said. Starting July 1, the law provides for a series of size and weight increases on packages mailed between first-class offices.

Appleton is a first-class office. The size and weight increases will be in five annual steps, the last coming on July 1, 1971.

Use of ZIP Code in the recipient's address will enable the sender or a mail clerk to quickly determine the proper zone, and thus the rate, for the package. The zones will be based on the distance a parcel travels between the 552 sectional centers in the country, Haase said.

By consulting a simple chart available at all post offices the zone can be readily identified. The first three numbers of the ZIP Code represent the sectional center. This replaces a method in which a directory often had to be consulted to locate the proper zone for each of the nation's 33,000 post offices.

The new rates will range from 40 cents for a three-pound parcel destined for local delivery to 60 cents for the same parcel to zone 3 (150 to 300 miles) to $1.05 to zone 8 (over 1,800 miles). The new zoning method will also apply to air parcel post, catalogs and to publishers who pay zone rates on the advertising portion of their periodicals.

First Rate

Haase noted that all parcels mailed between post offices within the Oshkosh sectional center will be charged at the first zone rate. There are 56 post offices within the Oshkosh sectional center.

The new rates are expected to provide an additional $74 million a year for the Post Office Department. The later size and weight increases will add another $32 million a year. The additional revenue is to help keep the Department within 4 per cent of costs on parcel post as the law requires.

More Than Professionals

The usual definition of a professional athlete is one who plays for money. But the Green Bay Packers, individually and collectively, have enhanced that definition to mean athletes who are dedicated to and take special pride in their specialized field of athletic competition.

The Packers' victory over the Kansas City Chiefs to win the unchallenged world professional football championship only takes on its real meaning when it is viewed as the last in a series of remarkable victories over the best pro teams in the country extending through a long and pressure-packed season.

In actuality, the Packers really won the title in that heroic battle with the Dallas Cowboys two weeks before. This was a team which all season did what it had to do, and when those in the know commented that a win over the Chiefs really would not be a victory unless the margin was more than three touchdowns, that is what the Packers went out and accomplished.

The organization which Vince Lombardi has put together at Green Bay will go down in sports history—the coaching staff, the players, the administrative staff and on down to Trainer Bud Jorgenson and "Chaplain" Dad Braisher.

It has been a long season. The pressure has been on the champions every day of every week since last July. Under such circumstances it is natural there is talk of retirement among some of the older players and even from Coach Lombardi himself. But six months from now a new season will present an even greater challenge, and most of these true professionals of the violent game of football will be back to meet that challenge.

Really, Mr. Rahr!

These columns have asserted during the years of his distinguished public service that Mr. Guido Rahr of Manitowoc, a respected businessman and devoted supporter of the natural resources conservation ideal, has been one of the most effective and constructive members of the Wisconsin conservation commission.

Awards from state and national organizations of citizens and professionals associated with wildlife management and protection programs have attested to his achievements and his integrity.

Mr. Rahr like his colleagues of the present Wisconsin commission are angrily critical of the Kellett commission on the reorganization of the state government because it has recommended that the conservation department which the commission supervises be joined with a sister agency, the department of natural resources. As the advisory commission sees it after more than a year of study and consideration, such a union would provide a promise of more effective service, and possibly, the more efficient disposition of the multi-million dollar sums of tax money the people of Wisconsin are contributing to the idea of wise use and management of our forests, game, fish, and waters.

It is perhaps an inevitable price of such reform efforts that the men who stand in the path of the proposals tend to regard them as personal indictments, as oblique criticisms of their own performance and adequacy.

It is expected that such men will dispute the claims of the reformers and reorganizers, insisting that their own records prove the superior merit of their organizations and the segmented performance in jobs they happen to hold. We have acknowledged such reflex reactions in the recent discussions of the merits and the prospects of the Kellett commission report. Conceivably they are right. The Kellett commission may be wrong.

Yet we must confess deep disappointment at the unworthy tone of some of the assertions of the conservation commissioners. The other day Mr. Rahr, as an example, permitted himself to go on the record with the accusation that a desire to obtain "political" control of the conservation commission budget was the motivating force in the Kellett reorganization committee's work. Surely Mr. Rahr knows better than that. Surely he knows that the men who would be chosen to run the united department of natural resources will be chosen by the governor, and confirmed by the legislature, even as he and the other commissioners with whom he has served during a long period were chosen. For a man with such a respected record, these are careless and irresponsible words.

Child Adoption Standards

The Italian-American Michael Liunis finally have been granted permission to adopt the four-year-old foster daughter who has been living with them since she was five days old.

The Liuni's petition originally had been turned down by their county welfare commissioner, Joseph Fitzsimmons, in part because little Beth was blonde and blue-eyed and the foster parents and their three natural children had dark hair and eyes and also because the foster parents were in their forties. The Liunis took the case to court and received nation-wide publicity and obvious sympathy for their cause. The court appointed a three-man investigative committee which unanimously recommended the adoption but the welfare commissioner was hard to convince and his approval was essential.

Ironically, Mr. Fitzsimmons, in reluctantly making the approval, cited the "glare and spotlight of publicity" as a major reason for his eventual approval which he indicated still was against his opinion. He cited other reasons than ethnic background and age of the people involved such as a menopausal breakdown Mrs. Liuni suffered more than a year ago and the family's limited financial resources. Mr. Liuni earns $8,900 a year.

What is obvious to everyone, including Mr. Fitzsimmons, is that the adoption never would have been approved without the publicity. We have no doubt that the welfare commissioner was sincere in his original decision that the Liuni home was not the best obtainable for Beth. But his lack of judgment is apparent in his opinion that a child of four would be better off in an institution or another strange home than with the family she considered her own and where she obviously was loved and well cared for. There are many couples in their forties who have children and there are many adoptions these days of youngsters of entirely different races much less coloration of eyes or skin.

All kinds of children survive their real mothers' problems of the menopause and somehow we would think that a family of the Liuni's less than wealthy status which fought to keep the child would be far preferable to almost any other. Conditions would have to be bad indeed ever to warrant removing a youngster from the only home she has known.

There must be a certain amount of confidential information collected for the determination of whether a couple should adopt a child. But cases like that of the Liunis are disturbing. How many welfare organizations follow such rude outlines as age of prospective parents and family income as final determining factors? How many youngsters have been taken from loving foster homes because of such statistics which really have nothing whatever to do with the care and development of the child? There is, for instance, a case in southern Wisconsin at present which is being protested by the neighbors of a family where three foster children have been taken.

The publicity of which Mr. Fitzsimmons spoke so disparagingly seems to be just the factor needed to encourage more realistic standards of adoption.

Alfonsi Case Shows Only That Bribery Law Needs Rewriting

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Restoration of the Wisconsin Assembly seat of Paul R. Alfonsi, surely the state's best known legislative politician as a consequence of his legal troubles of the last eight months, was the dominating incident in the Legislature's skimpy first week of 1967 activity and deliberation.

Wyngaard

The seating of the veteran northern Wisconsin leader after his earlier conviction on a bribery charge, following a reversal order by the State Supreme Court, was one of the dramatic episodes in recent legislative history. Yet it is likely to leave thousands of Wisconsin residents puzzled, disappointed and disturbed in varying degrees. Alfonsi's associates and friends of course regard the Supreme Court action as vindication and proof of his innocence and of the malice of his prosecutors.

But the court did not exonerate Alfonsi. It found errors in the record of his lower court conviction. It said that he must be tried again, if the prosecutor insists upon the legitimacy of his charge. Thus a cloud remains as Alfonsi and his legal circle know better than anybody else.

DIDN'T PROVE CASE

The court did not say that the defendant was innocent. It said that the prosecutor did not prove his case in the way that the state law requires him to prove it, namely, that he did not show a corrupt intent. Ideally, perhaps, as a matter of clearing up the affair, a new trial could be a useful thing. But it can probably be assumed that if the state could have proved intent in the way that the court holds that the law requires, it would have done so in the first instance. Thus the probability is that a new trial won't be had, although at the moment the attorney general's office and the new Dane County district attorney are deliberating and it seems that they will probably defer their decision until their motions or a rehearing before the Supreme Court can be considered.

What will trouble many citizens, if a new trial is not had or if the Legislature does not act to write a statute on bribery of public officials that is more easily understood, is the probability of a twilight zone in an important sector of official conduct.

This reporter happens to believe, with many others, that Alfonsi was not guilty of bribery in the sense that the word is normally understood. The record shows that he admitted readily enough accepting a $100 check. It shows that he and the man who wrote the check testified that it was intended to reimburse him for expenses incurred in connection with a speaking service on behalf of pending legislation.

Yet, at the very least, there are issues of taste involved. There is also involved, unless clarification is had, the chance that there is opened a loophole that will afflict the state again.

ENEMIES EXPRESSED GLEE

Some of Alfonsi's enemies were unable to restrain their glee about his difficulties and were willing enough to assume his guilt before his trial. Much of their criticism seemed sanctimonious to others who were willing to await the due process of law.

Yet it is difficult to deny the assertion that if a $100 dollar expense payment involving work on pending legislation by a legislator is acceptable, a $1,000 or a $5,000 tender would be equally valid. It is hard to deny that professional lobbyists worried about their prospects would be tempted to employ such methods for services real or pretended, if they knew that as long as they put nothing on the record about their intent the prosecutor could not effectively intervene.

Perhaps more relevantly, when a civil service criminal law specialist and two experienced judges of the appeal court, on the one hand, differ so diametrically with five other judges on the meaning of a law, it cries out for clarification and simplification.

Plenty of Evidence

'The Other Side' in Vietnam War Changing; Washington Still Tough

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The diplomatic position of the other side in the Vietnamese war has undergone a recent change — slight perhaps, and hard to define, but unmistakable. And Washington is now full of huffing and puffing as this country moves, in its usual laborious way, to adjust to the shift on the other side.

Kraft

The evidence of the change is manifold and obvious. All across the board there has been a quickening of Communist activities designed to engage the interest of political forces in South Vietnam, in the United States and in the rest of the world.

Thus American correspondents, beginning with Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times, are now being admitted to Hanoi. Leading North Vietnamese figures, like Mai Van Bo, are making splashy on-the-record statements. The National Liberation Front, or Viet Cong as it is called here, has been given heightened visibility as an independent entity with an official representative in Hanoi.

No Assessment

No one here, and perhaps no one anywhere, can confidently assess the meaning of this quickened activity. But at a minimum, it expresses a kind of displacement. The North Vietnamese and the Front are now saying openly things they used to say privately.

Thus when Pham Van Dong hinted to Salisbury that his famous four-point declaration was not a pre-condition for talks, he was only saying on the record what had previously been said many times off the record. And similarly, when Mai Van Bo intimated that an end to the bombing of North Vietnam might bring a willingness to negotiate.

Such on-the-record statements suggest that the other side may now have something new to say off-the-record. And that impression is borne out by many reports now circulating in the capitals of the world.

One report, for example, involves the Front representative in Moscow, Dang Quang Minh, who was in Paris last week for a meeting of the French Communist Party. According to this report, Dang Quang Minh privately indicated that the Front was now prepared to accept a settlement formula that would include simultaneous withdrawal of American and North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam, and the formation of a coalition government in Saigon including five, non-Communist, members of the Liberation Front.

Whatever the accuracy if this and other reports, it seems plainly in the American interest to find out what the other side is now saying off-the-record. Though perhaps less clearly, it seems to be in the American interest to promote even further the evolution on the other side.

Washington Hostile

But Washington's first reaction to signs of change on the other side was predominantly hostile and bellicose. Salisbury was villified as a tool of Communist propaganda. The mere suggestion that bombing be stopped or curtailed was treated as treasonable

So violent was this reaction that one possible middleman, Sec. Gen. U Thant of the United Nations, felt obliged publicly to take issue with the American position. U Thant's declaration then drew a public rejoinder from Sec. of State Dean Rusk.

The prospect of an open word-slinging match between the U.S. and the UN cooled things off somewhat. At the end of last week, Washington edged toward the position that it would deal secretly with whatever the other side was doing.

The second position is better than the first. But it cannot last long. For the other side has made a public and visible sign of change, however slight. The United States will have to keep pace with some reciprocal public gesture. Probably the right gesture is a change, not irrevocable and not total, in the pattern of the bombing of North Vietnam.

The sad thing is that there has to be so much huffing and puffing about doing something that is obvious. For whether the other side is genuinely intending to deal or merely feinting an opening for propaganda purposes or just testing the air, harsh responses in Washington only serve to whet the Communist appetite for propaganda.

Critics Have Too Much Power Over Theater

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In the New York Times for Dec. 7, there appeared a full-page ad for the new musical play, "I Do! I Do!" The ad was made up wholly of quotes from more than 30 newspaper and magazine critics chanting the show's praises.

Harris

What amuses me about such displays is the obvious schizophrenia of play producers. With one breath they curse out the critics for being obtuse, prejudiced, shallow, negative, and destructive; and with the next breath, they quote as many approving reviews as they can find.

If the critics are really as bad as the producers profess to believe, then their approval is of as little value as their disapproval. If we are urged to ignore the critics when they pan a play, we should be urged equally to ignore them when they praise a play.

But the producers want it both ways, which is transparently silly and self-serving. If a critic's judgment is bad, then obviously he is no more to be trusted when he likes a show than when he dislikes one; and quoting his approbation only serves to give him more authority over public taste.

In an interview on the "Tonight" show not long ago, Edward Albee, the distinguished playwright, remarked that drama critics have too much power in the American theater. I quite agree (even though I am one of them), and have long said the same thing, in print and in private.

But the reason they have too much power is that it is conferred upon them by the theater itself. "Rave reviews" are overemphasized in all the ads and publicity; so much so. Indeed, that a play which is reviewed unfavorably in the two New York morning papers has practically no chance of survival.

Theater-goers in Europe are much more sure of their taste, much more willing to take a chance on a play that has not been given the stamp of a "hit" by the critics. As a result, critics in Europe are not looked upon either as oracles or ogres, but simply as individuals expressing their own subjective opinions, which may mean much or little.

Of course, another reason for the excessive power wielded by American drama critics is the almost prohibitively high cost of attending the theater here. An evening out at the theater in New York may easily cost $40, with tickets, dinner, transportation and baby-sitting fee. For such a sum, few potential patrons will venture out for anything less than a guaranteed "smash hit" as evidenced by a full-page ad quoting those detestable critics.

Be Like Packers, Take to Air if You Want Speed

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I read the article written by Mr. Interested Citizen in the Sunday Post-Crescent, and I totally disagree. He says the speed on Highway 41 should be checked by radar and the speed should be set by the flow of traffic. In other words, if 75 per cent of the cars are going 70 to 80 miles per hour, the other 2 5per cent, who try to be safe drivers, and are good citizens, would have to abide by the decision. One of the big car manufacturers a decade ago, stated it could build cars that would travel 200 miles per hour but they had no way to figure out a safe brake for stopping, in case of an emergency; take the case for instance, that happened on the 26th of December in the Town of Neenah. A Minneapolis man traveling on Highway 150 failed to stop for the stop sign. Another car going at a high rate of speed on Highway 45 was unable to stop. The result? Two cars demolished. One man dead and his wife not expected to live. I don't recall what happened to the passenger in the car that was traveling on Highway 45. If one wants to go to Milwaukee and make it in an hour, there are other ways of travel. Do like the Green Bay Packers, take to the air, and spare the lives of innocent people. Hold your chin up. Don't stick it out.

What Next? We see a sign up street which reads, "Good Templars' Billiard Room!"

Have the Good Templars added billiards to the other attractions of the Order? (The Good Templars was a temperance organization which influenced society in the latter half of last century. The organization was particularly active and vocal in Wisconsin.)

Are "games of chance" favorite pastimes with Good Templars now?

We noticed a day or two since that a Distillery belonging to a Deacon in the church at Delavan, Walworth County, as stated in the telegram, had been seized by the government for "illicit distilling."

That Church probably will "catch fits" from the public critics; and the Good Templars also will be quite likely to hear often about (their opinion) of the "Good Templars Billiard Hall."

Public Relations Approach

Johnson Shows How To Ease Blockbuster

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, who might almost be called a new man because of his revised tactics in public relations, has shown how to take some of the thump out of a blockbuster.

In this case the blockbuster is the $73 billion he will ask Congress to approve for defense spending in the 1968 fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Johnson in his State of the Union message Jan. 10 told Congress and the country his budget for all government spending in the next fiscal year would be $135 billion, a record figure

The country had been prepared for something like that. There had been a lot of guessing about it for weeks. Some guesses had run as high as $145 billion.

Continues to Rise

Since the country gets bigger every year, there are more people making more money, and the government's responsibilities increase, the budget is a cinch to keep going up.

But, if it weren't for the expense of fighting the war in Vietnam, Johnson's budget would be a lot less than $135 billion. There also had been a lot of guessing about how much Johnson would ask of Congress for defense spending

He cleared that up Tuesday night by calling in newsmen to say the figure would be $73 billion, although he estimated this would be only $5 billion more than the level for the present fiscal year

But, by calling in the newsmen, Johnson was able to explain how hard he is trying to keep down expenses, despite the war. That $73 billion was the second highest estimate on defense spending in history.

Roosevelt Bundget

In 1944, when he figured his total budget at $100 billion, President Franklin D Roosevelt estimated spending on World War II activities for fiscal 1945 would be $88 billion Those "war activities" covered practically everything connected with the war

As an example of how defense spending has climbed because of Vietnam, in his last budget message President Dwight D Eisenhower for fiscal 1962 in 1961 gave Congress a budget of $80 8 billion, with defense spending at $46 billion

At the peak of the Korean War President Harry S Truman — in his 1953 message for fiscal 1954 — laid out a budget of $79 billion, with $59 9 billion for military spending In 1950 Truman had asked only $13 billion for defense

Johnson, aware, of course, about some of the protests over his request to Congress on Jan 10 for a tax increase, took pains when asked about it to inform newsmen on all the consulting he had done with the government's top economic experts

New Approach

He listed those who had recommended the tax boost

After his news conference on Dec 31, 1966, there could be no doubt Johnson has changed his approach to public relations This came after months of relative silence in which he saw his popularity slipping

At that news conference which was televised and broadcast — Johnson eliminated the facial expressions which he had used in the past He deadpanned the reporters without smiles or gestures and remaining simply straight faced, answered their questions

This change was evident for more than an hour the night of Jan 10 when his State of the Union message to Congress was nationally televised This was a straight-faced delivery, too

Even the color of previous messages was absent from that one although, oddly enough Johnson was then criticized by some for not being more colorful although, if he had been, he probably would have been criticized for being too fancy or optimistic

Keynote speakers at Thursday's first general session will be Sen Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., Rep Melvin Laird, R-Wis., and Gov Warren P Knowles

About 2 600 persons are expected to attend the meetings, including delegates from some 400 of the state's 535 school boards

Meeting in conjunction with the school board group will be the Wisconsin Association of School District Administrators and the Wisconsin Association of School Business Officials

National Drive Would Stem Thefts of Autos

Government Eyeing Local Legislative To Help Owners

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is planning a national campaign against car theft and is seeking — through persuasion or legislation — to have automobile manufacturers make their cars harder to steal.

In the announcement, Assistant Atty Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr. said steering wheel, transmission and hood locks and more secure ignition systems are devices which would help reverse the rising trend of automobile thefts.

Vinson said the Justice Department has conferred with industry representatives "with a view to installation of feasible and effective devices at the earliest practicable date

Eyes Legislation

"We are following with interest the automobile industry's activity in this regard and we are considering legislation, if necessary, to require installation of antitheft devices at the point of manufacture or assembly," he said in testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the subcommittee chairman, said his group also is considering legislation which would require antitheft devices on new cars.

Their talk of possible new laws dealing with automobile equipment came with manufacturers and the government at odds over the number and nature of safety devices to be required on 1968 model cars under a law passed by the 89th Congress

National Campaign

Vinson said the criminal division of the Justice Department is coordinating a national auto theft prevention campaign, due to begin about March 1. He said 19 organizations of automobile owners, manufacturers, officials and law officers are participating

Vinson said these are among the programs that will be part of the campaign

A drive for the enactment of local laws which would make it illegal for motorists to leave the ignition key in unattended cars, a public information program to encourage motorists to lock their cars and take out the ignition keys when they park, strengthened automobile title laws and legislation to regulate the sale of motor vehicle master keys.

Vinson said more than 500,000 cars were stolen last year and 64 per cent of the people arrested for those thefts were under 18 He said the financial loss from car thefts totals about $140 million a year

Bachelor of Arts Degree Called Meaningless

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A college bachelor of arts degree is all but worthless any more and "means little or nothing as a symbol for a liberal education," says Dr Louis T Benezet, president of Claremont Graduate School

In a speech to the National Conference of Academic Deans he suggested offering specialized degrees such as bachelor of chemistry or English

LBJ Asks $73 Billion For Defense Spending

mara goes before the panel in closed session next Monday to start outlining the administration's case

Comment By Laird

One Republican member of the committee Sen Jack R Miller of Iowa, said that as long as Johnson justifies his requests for Vietnam spending, "I would anticipate that he would have no particular problem in getting them"

A GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee accused Johnson of underestimating defense spending

"The expenditure rate will be higher than he predicts," said Rep Melvin R Laird of Wisconsin Laird estimated defense spending in fiscal 1968 will top $75 billion — and he said this estimate is conservative.

". . 'Most of the expenditures for replacing aircraft and for restoring supplies and ammunition that have been drawn down all over the world . will come due" in the months ahead, Laird told a newsman. He renewed his charge that "the administration has been less than candid with the American people on defense expenditures."

$135 Billion

In the question-and-answer session in his White House office, Johnson said he will send his new federal budget, estimated at $135 billion, to Congress next Tuesday and will submit his annual economic report two days later "unless we have something unforeseen develop"

Reporting on administration efforts to hold down the budget deficit, Johnson said he is considering postponing an additional $400 million of highway projects He had announced earlier there would be a stretch out in spending $1 1 billion of road money

He also said the administration has no plan at the moment to release $750 million made available by the last Congress for use by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board to expand mortgage credit He noted $250 million of such funds already had been released

Concerning his proposed 6 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes, Johnson said "no one wants a tax bill unless it is in the national interest"

He said he believes his proposal fits that requirement. "It won't require much sacrifice from anybody," he added.

U.S. Pilots Pour Fire Bombs on Red Hideouts

since the operation began Jan. 8

Only small, scattered ground fighting was reported elsewhere, but U S. headquarters announced successful results from stepped-up air raids over North Vietnam Tuesday.

The headquarters said the Thai Nguyen railroad yard 40 miles north of Hanoi was heavily damaged by 16 flights of F105 Thunderchief bombers which pummelled the sprawling yard for eight hours.

Pilots reported 10 large and several small secondary explosions and said they left the area covered by smoke. They said they also destroyed some antiaircraft gun positions around the yards

U S pilots flew 103 bombing missions over North Vietnam Tuesday, the first time after weeks of bad weather they exceeded 100.

One plane was lost, U S. headquarters said. An Air Force photo reconnaissance Phantom jet failed to return. It was the third Phantom reconnaissance plane lost over the north in two days and the 460th U.S. plane reported lost in the north The Phantom's two-man crew is missing.

Lt. Cmdr. L. L. Herzog, who observed the B52 incendiary raid, said the bombs started breaking up into fire clusters at an altitude of 8,000 feet and sent up large clouds of white smoke when they hit the jungle and undergrowth.

Herzog said there were no villages in the area.

Nearby, in Operation Cedar Falls, U.S. troops uncovered a heavily mined, booby-trapped tunnel which contained a sizeable arms cache, including four machine guns and 78 individual weapons.

The number of weapons seized in the 11-day-old operation, the biggest ground sweep of the war involving more than 30,000 U S. troops, was placed at 324 The operation also has yielded a record haul of 3,170 tons of enemy rice.

Leaky Heart Patient Advised to Slow Down

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you write about a leaky heart? I know it has something to do with the valves. I am 78 and have always worked hard. My doctor tells me I work too hard and unless I slow down, my heart will blow out on me. Would you explain in down-to-earth language what this is all about? — Mrs. J.K.

Saying that such a heart will "blow out" doesn't sound like a doctor's words. But if he said you should slow up to avoid heart failure, that's something else.

Your heart isn't going to explode, nor will it "spring a leak." Blood is pumped through the heart by contraction of the heart muscle, which squeezes all four chambers of the heart.

With each squeeze, or heartbeat, blood is forced out of each chamber and into the next one ahead of it. As the heart muscle relaxes, the chambers expand again, more blood moves into the chambers. It cannot flow backward, because of valves which connect the chambers. They are one-way valves. Blood can flow through them in only one direction.

Or at least it can flow only one way if the valves are normal. When a valve becomes "leaky," it means that it lets some blood flow in the wrong direction. You must remember the old-fashioned kitchem pump.

If the leather in the valve stiffened, or cracked, or wore too much, you would get less water with each pumping. You had to do a lot more work to get a pail of water.

It's the same with a heart when a valve is leaky. It has to work harder to pump the necessary amount of blood. When you work strenuously, you need more circulation. When you take things easy, you need less, and the heart doesn't have to work so hard.

That's all your doctor is telling you: If you don't work so hard, your heart can do a little more resting. It has served you well for 78 years. Ease its burden so it can serve you for more years.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read recently about a drug that produces growth. My son who is five feet seven has often remarked that he wished he were taller. Should I ask our doctor or could the drug be obtained without consultation? — Mrs. I.S.

I would call it a growth hormone instead of a drug — and I would forget all about it for practical purposes.

First, not much is yet known about it. Second, very little is available. Third, and most important in your case, is that your son (you do not give his age) presumably already has most or all of his normal growth. When that is reached, there is no way to bring about additional growth because the bones have matured.

While study of this growth hormone is intriguing and may eventually lead to valuable knowledge, at the moment there is no way to increase a person's height arbitrarily. Even experimentally, all we can hope for is to bring an individual closer to whatever his normal height should be, if his growth has been retarded abnormally.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

More Information on No-Load Mutual Funds

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In its December report condemning the sales charges (loads) on mutual fund shares as "excessive" and recommending that Congress pass a law to force the funds to slash their loads, the Securities & Exchange Commission carefully pointed out that "mutual funds and other investment companies offer a sound and useful investment medium for the public."

The SEC emphasizes that it does not want to curtail the growth of mutual funds. It simply wants to make sure that "Aunt Jane" does not pay "unjustified" costs to get a stake in Wall Street.

But in the whole 346-page report laying the groundwork for legislation to be introduced soon, the SEC devotes only a mere handful of paragraphs to the "no-load" mutual funds — funds which have no sales charge at all. The reason is simple: the no-loads offer the same advantages of a "sound and useful investment medium for the public," but they have none of the disadvantages of sales charges running to 8-9 per cent and usually centering around 9.3 per cent of the amount invested.

Yesterday's column began this guide to basic facts on the little-known no-loads. Today's column continues the guide.

Q. You have stressed that no-load funds aren't "sold;" they have to be "bought." But how can I buy them if I don't know their names or where they're located?

A. This is a key question, of course. There are 60 no-load funds registered with the SEC, having more than $2 billion of assets and more than 250,000 shareholders. These are small figures against $38.2 billion for the load funds and 3,500,000 shareholders.

Some No-Load Funds

Of the 60, a Wall Street source identifies 29 as well-established and well-known to sophisticated investors. Here are their names in alphabetical order and their headquarter cities:

American Enterprise, N.Y.C. American Investor, Larchmont, N.Y., Beacon Hill, Boston, Concord, Boston, Connecticut Western, Stamford, Consultant's Mutual, Philadelphia, Counselors Investment, Los Angeles, de Vegh, N.Y.C.,

Dodge & Cox, San Francisco, Drexel Equity, Philadelphia, Energy Fund, N.Y.C., The Johnston Mutual, N.Y.C., Loomis-Sayles, Boston, Mairs & Power, St. Paul, Minn.

Mutual Shares, N.Y.C., Nassau Fund, Princeton, N.J., Northeast Investors, Boston, One William Street, N.Y.C., Penn Square, Reading, Pa., Pine Street Fund, N.Y.C., T. Rowe Price, Baltimore.

Prudential Fund, Boston, The Regency Fund, N.Y.C., Rittenhouse Fund, Philadelphia, Scidder, Stevens & Clark, Boston, Stein, Roe & Farnharm, Chicago, Templeton, Liddell, Englewood, N.Y., Wade Fund, Memphis Tenn.

As with any investment, you must select a no-load fund to fit your objectives. You will find that some emphasize growth: some, income: some, balance between the two: some, maximum capital gain. You must investigate their individual performance records, the reputation of their managements. The significant point is that there are enough operating now to give you a wide choice.

Q How can I get a prospectus or literature on no-loads?

A. Telephone or write to the home office of each of the funds in which you are interested. Your bank or broker also should have directories of mutual funds which will include the no-loads. Arthur Wisenberger & Co.'s widely circulated "Investment Companies" analyzes no-load as well as load funds.

Q. Where are the prices on no-loads quoted?

A. In the financial pages of the major daily newspapers along with the quotes on load funds. On the no-load funds, you will find the same price quoted under "bid" and "ask." On the load funds you will find a higher price under "ask" than under "bid" because the "ask" price will reflect the sales charge.

Q. Why don't mutual fund salesmen ever recommend the no-loads if their performance is comparable to the load funds?

A. Because a mutual fund salesman gets no commission on the no-loads. He earns fees only when he sells load shares.

Q. How long have no-loads been in existence?

A. About as long as the load funds.

Roger Van Eperen Gets Promotion In Navy Reserve

Roger Van Eperen, Darboy, has been promoted to senior chief petty officer in the naval reserve.

A member of Fox Cities Naval Reserve Surface Division 9-9 (S), he is the first member of the unit to hold the rank and one of only three radarmen selected for the promotion following a nationwide examination last year.

A Korean War veteran with 15 years active and reserve naval service, Van Eperen was assigned to the frigate Willis A. Lee, the light carrier Cabot and as an instructor at the Combat Information Center (CIC) School in Boston while on active duty.

He is a research technician at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, and currently is serving as commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3317, Kaukauna.

State Award Planned For Appleton Instructor

Miss Trachte will receive the award during a conference of the Wisconsin Vocational Rehabilitation supervisors and counselors, in February at Madison.
